SURPRISE SOVIET SHUFFLE BOOSTS MIKOYAN UP

LONDON (UP)—Moscow radio tonight announced a new government shuffle in the Soviet Union in which Anastas Mikoyan, ousted as minister of trade a month ago, was made first deputy premier.

Two deputy premiers, M. Z. Saburov and M. G. Pervukhin, also were promoted with Mikoyan to the rank of first deputy premier.

The promotions placed them along with two existing first deputies—V. M. Molotov and L. M. Kaganovich—in a broadened top-level presidium.

Counting Premier Nikolai Bulganin as a part of it, this new presidium becomes a six-man group, replacing the narrow governing team of Bulganin, Molotov and Kaganovich.

Canada 12, Finland 0

DUESSELDORF, Germany (CP)—Canada walloped Finland 12-0 tonight in the fourth round of the world hockey championships. It was the fourth win without a loss for the Penticton V's and the third consecutive setback for the Finns.

V's IDLE TOMORROW

Penticton V's, Canada's representative in the world hockey championships, will enjoy a day off Tuesday.

Wednesday the V's play Switzerland; Thursday they meet Sweden with Germany as their opponents Friday. On Saturday they enjoy another bye with the all-important game against Russia scheduled next Sunday.

Mainland Thugs Raid Offices Of 9 Doctors

VANCOUVER (CP)—Thieves ransacked the offices of nine doctors here during the week-end, apparently in search of narcotics, as the crackdown on drug pushers and addicts continued.

Two suspected drug addicts were arrested and 17 others checked by city police during the week-end in Vancouver.

Police said a man and woman were arrested in an east end hotel and were being held pending a laboratory analysis of articles found in their possession. The seized articles, which include a hypodermic needle, are being checked for possible traces of narcotics.

The week-end police activity brought to about 200 the number of known and suspected addicts and traffickers checked by police in the harassment drive started seven days ago. Many have been checked as many as three times in a single day.

Reds Ready To Talk PWs

RANGOON, Burma (UP)—Premier U Nu of Burma said today he transmitted to U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles an invitation from Red China for a visit by an "unofficial" American representative to Peiping.

The premier did not elaborate, but it was assumed the purpose of the proposed visit would be an informal discussion between Red China and the United States of America on demands for release of 11 American airmen imprisoned by the Communists on espionage charges, and other sources of Sino-American tension.

Forward Mike Shabaga scored three goals and the veteran Jim Fairburn got another pair to lead the Canadian attack. But the real hero of the game was the Finnish goalie, Vitala Unto, who stopped 53 shots.

As the game ended the entire Canadian team skated over to shake hands with him. The match was so one-sided that in the second period alone Unto had to make 22 stops while Canada's Ivan McLelland had a bare two saves.

Fairburn, George McAvoy and Bill Warwick each drew two penalties in the opening period, but the game was comparatively tame after that, without a penalty for either team in the last two periods.

Hal Tarala, McAvoy, Doug Kilburn, Bernie Bathgate, Bill Warwick and Don Berry each scored one goal for the V's. Canada blasted the game wide open almost from the start as Tarala, McAvoy, Kilburn and Dick Warwick scored goals within the first eight minutes of play. After that it was a romp. The Canadians skated at half-speed in the final two periods.

Meanwhile, Vladimir Zabrodsky, captain of the Czech team, laughed off rumors that his team "made victory easy" for defending champion Russia Sunday night.

One German newspaper and many fans and observers speculated after the Czech-Russian game that the Czechs might have "eased off a bit," thus helping the Russians to victory. Zabrodsky said: "You can be sure of one thing—the Russians and we are no friends when it comes to ice hockey. We played the best we could Sunday night but just could not break through the Russian defense."

Possible evidence of this was the fact that a Russian and a Czech engaged in a skate-kicking duel during the game.

Famed 'Teddy' Dies

VANCOUVER. (CP)—Thaddeus S. (Teddy) Lyons, wise-cracking tourmaster of the Vancouver transit system's observation cars for 42 years, died at his home here Sunday. He was 68.

Armed with an impish grin and a megaphone, Mr. Lyons and his jokes made four appearances a day every summer from 1910 until his retirement in 1951.

TWO YEARS FOR SPREE ON MAGGIE

HALIFAX (CP)—A navy court martial today sentenced AB John MacDonald of Beaverton, Ont., to two years, less a day, and dismissal from the service for his part in a drinking spree aboard the aircraft carrier Magnificent.

MacDonald was acquitted of stealing duplicating machine fluid (which contained deadly methyl alcohol) last Jan. 21 but was found guilty on three other charges—unlawful possession of stolen fluid, furnishing "spiked" drinks to another sailor, and drinking intoxicants contrary to navy regulations.

West Germany Ratifies Arms Pact

Adenauer Faces
Split in Cabinet

PARIS, (UP)—Premier Edgar Faure today assured the United States and Britain that his new government will complete the ratification of the German rearmament plan speedily. He called his cabinet together to fix a timetable for the action.

(From UP, AP Dispatches)

BONN, Germany—Vice-Chancellor Franz Bluecher offered his resignation to Chancellor Konrad Adenauer today in an open cabinet split over passage Sunday night of the Paris arms treaties, a spokesman for Bluecher announced.

The West German lower house (Bundestag) passed the arms treaties by resounding margins and thus put the future of Germany's promised new 12-division army squarely in the hands of the temperamental national assembly of France.

But a related Franco-German agreement to put the coal-rich Saar under international control divided the nation and precipitated an open rebellion in Adenauer's four-party coalition. In a resolution likely to imperil French ratification of German rearmament, Adenauer's own party and two others in his coalition declared the Saar's "attachment to Germany is not affected" by this Saar pact.

The resolution, adopted by a show of hands, declared: "The Saar agreement does not affect the attachment of the Saar to Germany under the 1937 frontiers, full political freedom will be restored in the Saar before and after the plebiscite on the new Saar statute, and the European commissioner for the Saar will undertake to guarantee this freedom." A Socialist resolution calling for immediate withdrawal of French troops and police from the Saar was rejected in a second show of hands.

Chiang Reacts As New Threat Rakes Quemoy

TAIPEI (UP)—The Chinese Communists have ringed Quemoy Island with Soviet-built artillery of the type that shattered the French defenses at Dien Bien Phu, military sources said today.

The sources said the artillery can reach every corner of the heavily-defended island outpost with devastating fire for the first time. They called the threat a critical one and pointed out Quemoy's only airstrip had been "immune" to Red guns in the past.

Chiang summoned members of the Kuomintang (government ruling party) to a full dress session Tuesday and it was understood the critical situation in the Formosa Strait would be discussed.

Floods Ruin 30 Towns Kill 70 in Australia

SYDNEY (UP)—The worst flood in Australian history slowly began receding today, leaving more than 70 persons dead and many more missing.

At least 30 towns and scores of villages were partly wrecked by swollen rivers fed by heavy rains in the state of New South Wales in southeast Australia.

Nurses at the Maitland Hospital said that when the floods struck the town they saw the roaring current pick up 20 houses and smash them like toys against a bridge.

"One house had seven people on the roof as it passed the bridge. They all jumped," one nurse said.

"Afterwards only three were clinging to the bridge. We learned later that the others, including a woman expecting a baby in 48 hours, floated five miles on a mattress to safety," the nurse said.

EPIDEMICS THREATEN
With the receding waters in many areas came the threat of serious epidemics.

Outbreaks of dysentery and colic already were sweeping the crowded refugee centres of the Hunter River valley, where the receding waters uncovered thousands of rotting animal carcasses on streets and mud-caked farms.

Sewage, electricity and gas services and water supplies were broken down.

Rescue workers began evacuating 6,000 persons from Mait-

Magistrate Refuses Marcoux Bail

VANCOUVER (CP)—Joseph Marcoux, 29, semi-pro hockey player, was remanded today to March 8 on a charge of attempted murder in connection with last year's shooting of William Semnick. (Marcoux formerly played for Victoria V's of the Commercial Hockey League.)

No plea was entered. Magistrate Oscar Orr refused a request for bail on the ground Marcoux had jumped $500 bail on a minor traffic charge three months ago.

Marcoux was arrested in Toronto last week. Semnick was wounded Nov. 4 by two assailants in Stanley Park and was later sentenced to three months for refusing to name his attackers.

A charge of trafficking in drugs is pending against Semnick.

Cameras Slugged As Princess Watches

Daily Sketch and Jean Pierre Pedrazzini of a Paris magazine both suffered injuries in the scuffle which lasted about 10 minutes.

Two members of the royal party, Capt. Dawney and Sir Norman Gwatkin, stepped in and ended the scrap, telling police to release the two photographers and let them take pictures of the princess.

Colonial Secretary A. G. H. Garner-Brown, who said the princess was "horrified" at the incident, apologized to both men and offered to pay for a new suit for Pedrazzini, whose trousers were ripped down the right leg.

The Bahamas government said Sunday the scuffle has been investigated and "suitable directions" have been given to ensure co-operation between police and press.

Mainland Gets Five-Inch Fall

Victoria will escape the worst of a smashing onslaught of winter weather that already has left five inches of snow on the mainland, and has the rest of British Columbia shivering.

Weatherman William Mackie expects showers of snow mixed with rain late this afternoon, and flurries of snow tonight, but temperatures will remain between 32 and 38 degrees.

Chilly Arctic air that lay over the city on the week-end was pushed back to the mainland by a mild storm from the Pacific that left snow, rain and high winds in its wake.

The cold air is still a threat, Mr. Mackie said, but he expects the milder air to keep it bottled up in Queen Charlotte Sound.

Saturday and Sunday were extremely cold, and the thermometer reached a record low on both days. Saturday was the coldest Feb. 26 in history with a low of 26.9 degrees, and Sunday the coldest Feb. 27 with a minimum of 22.7 degrees.

Previous records were: 27.2 degrees, Feb. 26, 1917, and 28.5 degrees, Feb. 27, 1912.

High winds accompanied the passage of the storm over the city. They reached a peak of 57 miles per hour at 3:10 a.m. today.

Duncan, Nanimo and Courtenay all reported from two to three inches of snow Sunday evening and early today. Roads are clear, however, and buses and aircraft are traveling on schedule.

Public works crews were out in force today and will continue at work on highways tonight. Officials said six inches of snow fell overnight on the Malahat and warned that motorists will find chains necessary to make the trip.

Snow, Slush Snarl Traffic in Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—Rivers of slush raced down Greater Vancouver streets and roadways today after a five-inch snowfall.

Traffic was snarled, thousands of workers were late for work, many schools were closed and power failures were general in suburban districts.

Rising temperatures started the heavy, wet snow melting as hundreds of workmen manned shovels and plows.

A high of 36 was forecast for today with an overnight low of 30 in Vancouver.

The snow was widespread, hitting both coastal and interior sections.

Winds that reached hurricane force in gusts pounded the Oregon-Washington coast, disrupting communications and causing widespread damage.

The storm originated in the Alaska Panhandle on Saturday and swept down the Queen Charlotte Islands, sending ships scurrying for shelter.

Occasional showers of mixed rain and snow were forecast for the B.C. coast.

ADDICT'S OWN STORY

Street Peddler Main Contact

(The drug traffic on the B.C. coast has become notorious. Its main centre is Vancouver. Victoria fortunately is to a large extent free of the more evil implications of it. But there are drug addicts here and they face similar problems to those on the mainland. This year the B.C. government proposes an experimental program to deal with the addiction problem. Just what can this do for an addict? To show the public something of the problem, a Victoria addict who has been in and out of trouble with the law for years has told his personal story to the Times. Following is the last of a series.)

AS TOLD TO TONY DICKASON
Addicts who steal are the professional athletes compared to ordinary thieves who by comparison are bungling amateurs.

You can't make a mistake when you support a habit like dope. It is just an absolute necessity.

Strong-arm men look down on addicts as non-reliable, but addicts in their own way steal more than all the thugs and safe crackers in Canada lumped together.

Much of the stealing is done in stores by "boosters." They simply lift merchandise, and usually most ingeniously and sell it to a fence for much less than value. "Heelers" roam hotel corridors testing room doors. We call this a "hot prowl."

Your purse or wallet are never safe. These thieves, goaded by the need for narcotics money, move so quietly they can take funds out from under your pillow, and not disturb a hair of your head!

This is all routine stuff, common to addicts.

I surmise, and this is a surmise, that there are at least five steps with drugs from the time they are imported down to the user or "hyke" himself. Main contact is the street peddler. They won't sell drugs to kids as the youngsters aren't known to the pusher. No chances are taken.

GET CURIOUS
Most youngsters get started through curiosity, like myself. There is a general aversion among addicts to giving that first fix, but some kids lie and say they have "scored" before—and are hooked that way.

There are drugs being used in Oakalla today, because wherever there are users, there are the drugs. With money, the habit can be sustained anywhere. In 1947 when I was in Oakalla the last time I had the odd fix, about a quarter-grain of morphine when I needed it, I'd have had more, but wasn't in a financial position to do so.

There are people who use drugs—doctors, nurses or pharmacists generally—who don't have to come to crime to support the disease. The RCMP draws a sharp line between these and the criminal addict. In other words, one who takes drugs and is in the money is home free. For instance, I've never heard of a door being kicked in at the Uplands by the RCMP searching for an addict.

Well, these are my views on the narcotics problem. I haven't tried to be dramatic, or overstate the situation, but to tell it as I see it. If the public realizes the impasse in which a confirmed addict finds himself, and who definitely desires a return to as normal a life as possible, perhaps something will be done in setting up clinics.

It's up to you.

(THE END)

Canada Wins
Seaway Canal Argument
OTTAWA (BUP)—Canada has won its campaign to keep part of the international section of the St. Lawrence Seaway on Canadian soil, diplomatic letters tabled in the House of Commons revealed today.

They included a commitment by the United States administration to seek a revision of the Wiley Act to allow it to drop plans for a canal on the U.S. side of the international Rapids near Iroquois, Ont. Canada has already begun work on a $15,000,000 canal on the Canadian side at that point.

The letters tabled by External Affairs Minister Pearson said both countries had agreed to avoid duplication in the navigation facilities of the seaway.

'DESPERATE ALTERNATIVE'

One World Or None'—Solandt

MONTREAL (BUP)—Mankind faces total self-destruction unless it finds some form of world organization to make war impossible, Dr. O. M. Solandt, Canada's chief military research scientist, said today.

"We are now at last faced with the desperate alternative of one world or none," he told the Montreal Canadian Club.

Solandt, chairman of the Defense Research Board, said nuclear research had reached the point where a choice had to be made between two divergent paths, one leading to "the ultimate horror of total nuclear war," and the other to the "more inviting path to the peaceful applications of nuclear energy."

The U.S. Atomic Energy Commission's recent release of additional information about thermonuclear weapons, he said, meant that one bomb "would destroy or damage beyond all repair all ordinary Canadian homes and other light buildings within a radius of about 10 miles."

DR. O. M. SOLANDT

London Would Have Been Destroyed

"With the information that has been given in this release," he added, "it is a matter of simple arithmetic to calculate very approximately the number of such weapons that would be required to wipe out most of mankind. . . . The number of weapons required is not beyond the conceivable limits of production or the known availability of raw materials."

Solandt said that if the German bombardment of London with the V-2 in the Second World War had employed atomic warheads of the same magnitude as the bomb used at Hiroshima, "London would have been destroyed."

Inter-continental missiles with thermonuclear warheads are not only possible but are "perceptibly closer" to becoming practical, Solandt said but if an all-out atomic war can be avoided long enough, an effective defense will ultimately be found to them.

'Fossil' Fuel Supply Limited

Solandt said the world heretofore depended primarily on wood and "fossil" fuels such as coal, oil, and gas. He said the end of readily available resources of these fuels was in sight, and by the end of this century the cost of recovering them would rise "so seriously as to limit their use."

"Some time within the foreseeable future the rate at which our economic machine requires energy to keep it going will exceed the rate at which we can expand the recovery of fossil fuels," he said. Nuclear power was "one certain solution" to the problem, and would be economically available within the next 25 years when fossil fuels begin to run out, he added.

First Robot Weapon Warship Joins U.S. Fleet in July

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States Navy expects to have the first of two guided missile-firing cruisers ready for anti-aircraft duty with the fleet next July and the second later this year.

Completion of the project to convert the heavy cruisers Boston and Canberra presumably will make the American fleet the first of any world power to possess operationally useful guided missile ships.

Britain's first lord of the admiralty, J. P. L. Thomas announced last week that Britain intended to begin building a fleet of guided missile warships "of great lethality which will very much improve our ability to defend ourselves against air attack even by the fastest modern aircraft."

The U.S. has learned that a long interval may come between such a decision and the time when guided missile ships are ready for use.

TOO FAR IN FUTURE

In 1946, the navy announced that the uncompleted hulls of the 45,000-ton battleship Kentucky and the 27,000-ton battle cruiser Hawaii would be built into guided missile ships. Conversion work was started then halted within a year. One reason was that the navy discovered the development of practical guided missiles was too far in the future to allow design of ships for their use. It was not until 1952 that the navy again took up the project actively, sending the Boston and Canberra to the New York Shipbuilding Corp. yards at Camden, N.J., for extensive remodeling into robot weapon ships.

A navy spokesman said, in answer to a question today, that the Boston is expected to be ready in July and the Canberra probably about December.

MAJOR 'QUAKE IN PACIFIC RECORDED

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—An earthquake described as "of large magnitude—between 7 and 7½ on the Richter scale" was registered at the University of California seismographic station Sunday at 12:55.51 and continued for two hours. Seismologist Don Tocher estimated it had occurred some 5,500 miles from Berkeley, "probably in the south-west Pacific."

Liberal Parley To Discuss Convention Bid

Sydney Smith, president of the B.C. Liberal Association, said today the provincial advisory council will meet in "April or May" to discuss a request from party leader Arthur Laing for a fall convention.

"We have it under consideration, and it will be dealt with at the next meeting," Mr. Smith told the Times from his Kamloops home.

He said he personally favors a fall convention, because "all signs" point to federal and provincial general elections in 1956.

FLEXIBLE POLICY

The party president said the proposed convention will mould an election platform.

"The Liberal party follows a policy flexible enough to change with changing conditions," he said. "Our platform will be in keeping with changing conditions."

Meanwhile, the Liberals will launch a province-wide organization drive on Tuesday. Recently-appointed executive secretary Grant Deachman will open new central offices in Vancouver as the start of the drive.

The offices, at 425 Howe Street, will be the first provincial headquarters in operation since the Victoria offices closed just after the 1953 general election.

Mr. Smith said the advisory council will not meet until the current legislative session is over, and until the federal advisory council meets in March.

He said many Liberals in B.C. "think it necessary to have a convention at a fairly early date."

SIDNEY—At the recent meeting of the Sidney Waterworks District, G. A. Gardner was elected to serve another three-year term as trustee.

Clifford Ganderton was elected as trustee to fill a vacancy, and George Holt was appointed auditor.

Chairman Everett Goddard stated in his annual report that the trustees had undertaken a program of new and replacement drains to cost $15,832.18. It was reported that the system, now valued at slightly less than $100,000, had been acquired 11 years ago by the ratepayers at a cost of $28,000.

Miss Victoria to Have Chance To Capture Four Other Titles

The girl chosen Miss Victoria by Junior Chamber of Commerce in April will have four other titles including Miss Canada and Miss America.

Three girls have already entered the competition, which will see a local lovely reign over Victoria Industrial and Agricultural Exhibition, May 2 to 7.

It is likely the same girl will be crowned Victoria May Queen by Greater Victoria Celebrations Association, although no final arrangements have been made in this respect.

MISS CANADA

Then in June, the Jaycees will send their queen to London, Ont., to take part in Miss Canada Pageant, where merely for entering she will receive $100. The Junior Chamber will buy her evening gowns and pay all other expenses including the TCA flight there and back. Top prize is $6,000 in scholarships.

Winner of this title makes the girl eligible for Atlantic City's Miss America contest, with $25,000 in prizes and scholarships plus TV and movie tests for the winner.

If she meets requirements, the queen may enter the Pacific Exhibition queen contest, but not under Jaycee sponsorship.

Miss Victoria, a committee chairman, says as many entries as possible are desired, and that between April 1 when entries close and April 15, 10 finalists will be selected.

Past entrants may re-enter, with the exception of winners. Two princesses will be named, each to be given a prize similar to the winner, and all finalists will receive a gift.

All entrants must be between

Pats Hold Van Doos Out of Yellowknife

Exercise Bulldog III Completed With Defending Forces Overpowering 'Invaders'

By JOE MACSWEEN

YELLOWKNIFE, N.W.T. (CP)—The latest experiment in how men can fight in the sub-Arctic was being studied today following Exercise Bull Dog III, a joint effort of the army and the RCAF.

The exercise ended Sunday when men of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry "blasted" their way to the near-by airport to overpower make-believe invaders.

The final assault meant theoretical defeat for the Royal 22nd Regiment from Quebec, which had taken the role of an enemy.

The exercise featured spectacular parachute drops by the battle-trained Patricias. The 22nd—the Van Doos—had their hands full with local militia volunteers even before the regular troops arrived from the advance base at Edmonton.

The exercise featured spectacular parachute drops by the battle-trained Patricias. The 22nd—the Van Doos—had their hands full with local militia volunteers even before the regular troops arrived from the advance base at Edmonton.

OBJECT OF ATTACK

At the root of the exercise was the theory that Yellowknife—rich in strategic value as well as gold mines—could be the object of an attack across the Arctic route.

Military men have been seeking for years information on just what fighting men can do when temperatures drop to 40 degrees below zero or more.

Maj.-Gen. Chris Vokes, general officer commanding Western command today was to evaluate the exercise, which began Friday when the Van Doos were landed at the Yellowknife airport, five miles from the town, by the air force.

Capt. Charlie Grenier, commander of the 120 Van Doos who made the attack, had no difficulty taking the airport but tangled with the auxiliary reserve Canadian Rangers and a unit of engineers when trying to reach secondary objectives.

MEETS COUNTER-ATTACK

He then fell back to the airport and prepared to fight the counter-attack he knew would come from the south—in this case by the Patricias, comrades of the Van Doos on many a day of actual battle.

The air force dropped approximately 270 Patricias and equipment. Men were dropped with picture precision but some of the heavy equipment, including mortars, fell in scrub bush and craggy terrain and was not used by the Patricias.

Lt.-Col. J. R. Cameron, PCCLI commander, dropped with the first troops late Saturday and Sunday gave the order for the final advance.

Col. P. S. Cooper of the army general staff told reporters he considered the parachute operation "beautiful" and the irregular forces had done a fine job.

WHY SETTLE FOR LESS THAN $10,000 IN A YEAR?

The days are gone when a "few thousand" a year salary was enough for a man to take care of his family, buy a new car, and "salt some away for the future."

John Christensen averaged $732.55 earnings per month his first seven months. O. A. Holland, new man starting mid-year, earned $2,184.36 in three-month period. Average of over $700.00 per month. Harley Hayes, new man, earned $104.61 his very first working day. These are unusual earnings of top men. Like earnings are available to you because we do not put a ceiling on your income.

In spite of shortages in other businesses, our volume is expanding at a terrific rate. We have an opening in the Victoria area, for a man over 45. The man we want must be high grade (not high pressure), ambitious and sincere. Earnings are paid in advance, no investment is needed, no collections, no deliveries. 'GRANDDADDY' A-BLAST MAY BE FIRED TUESDAY

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UP)—A weather briefing today will determine whether the "granddaddy" device of the 1955 nuclear test series will be detonated Tuesday by the Atomic Energy Commission.

The shot, equivalent of 50,000 tons of TNT, has been postponed twice because of adverse winds which would throw radioactive fallout over populated areas.

Scientists have prepared a "less sensitive" device for Tuesday in case weather again postpones the large explosion.

Manitoba Girl, 19, Charged With Family-Spat Murder

BRANDON (CP)—A charge of murder was read today in police court to Helen May Jackson, 19, of Wawanesa, Man., in connection with the rifle slaying of her father in their farm home last Thursday night.

William Jackson, 43, was shot in the back with .22-calibre rifle at close range during what police described as a family quarrel. They said the man was shot after he attacked his wife, the girl's stepmother, with his fists.

Helen Jackson had been held in custody since the shooting. She was remanded to March 8. An inquest is scheduled March 7.

Defense counsel R. A. Clement asked the court if the girl could attend a private funeral for her father Tuesday. A ruling was expected later today.

Miss Jackson sat quietly in the prisoner's dock during her brief appearance in the crowded court room. She said nothing.

Mr. Jackson is believed to have died instantly when shot through the lower back. The seven children in the family were present during the quarrel. Helen Jackson is Mr. Jackson's daughter by a previous marriage.

Heroes of Arctic Air Rescue

Sgt. A. N. Beaumont, of Vancouver, pilot of RCMP plane recently forced down in the Arctic, second from left, was credited with saving the lives of party of seven by his cool actions. At the left is Cpl. R. L. Fletcher, Hilmfield, Man., co-pilot. Third man in picture is not identified.

B.C. Pilot Credited 'With Terrific Job'

RCMP Flier, Crew Praised for Saving Lives of Party on Barren Arctic Tundra

CHURCHILL, Man. (CP)—The resourcefulness of an RCMP pilot and his crew was credited by veteran RCAF fliers today with saving a party of seven marooned beside their downed plane for four days and nights on the windswept Arctic tundra.

"He did a terrific job. In fact, everybody seemed to do the right thing," said one senior member of the RCAF rescue party.

He was speaking of RCMP Sgt. A. N. Beaumont of Vancouver, who flew his ski-equipped Otter plane back to its Churchill base Sunday after being forced down Tuesday while en route to Ennadai Lake, N.W.T., 290 miles northwest of here.

Sgt. Beaumont and his crew—Cpl. R. L. Fletcher of Hilmfield, Man., co-pilot, and special constable G. E. Bartlett of Churchill, engineer—were flying four passengers when they were forced to set down 14 miles southeast of their destination.

At Churchill, Sgt. Beaumont said:

"We weren't worried. We were pretty sure where we were and we had plenty to eat."

The downed party tried their "Gibson girl" radio but "apparently nobody heard it," he said.

The veteran Arctic flier played his cards right all the way.

He said the Ennadai weather station apparently only received his tentative flight plans which gave an earlier estimated time of arrival than his final plan filed later.

The RCMP Otter was only about 20 minutes out of Ennadai when the station cut off its radio signal beam.

Sgt. Beaumont said he assumed "they thought we were not coming."

When he lost the signal, the RCMP pilot said there was little chance of his finding Ennadai due to the swirling snow and "we were getting low on fuel."

As he didn't have sufficient fuel to return to Churchill, he decided to set down on a long level spot on the tundra. He landed without any difficulty

'COMPLETELY'

Pair Brain Washed

HONG KONG (UP)—A New York man and woman came out of Communist China singing its praise and proclaiming their guilt as "spies" today.

The two, Mrs. Adele Austin Rickett, 35, of Yonkers, N.Y., and Malcolm Bersohn, 29, of New York, arrived in Hong Kong Sunday from Peking, leaving behind Mrs. Rickett's husband, still in a Red prison.

NEW HIGH

Mrs. Rickett and Bersohn, described by veteran observers as examples of a new high in Communist "brainwashing," served sentences of 3½ years for "espionage." They had nothing but praise for their captors and criticism of the United States "imperialistic" policies.

Bersohn said his parents were "under a misapprehension" if they think a letter he wrote them recently was dictated by the Communists.

NOT DICTATED

"Not one word was dictated. They are under a misapprehension because there are too many lies in the United States newspapers about Democratic (Communist) countries."

Mrs. Rickett said everyone in China speaks the truth because "if they don't speak the truth they will be reported."

Asked if he were a Communist Bersohn said, "I cannot be honored like that."

Both predicted the United States would go Communist.

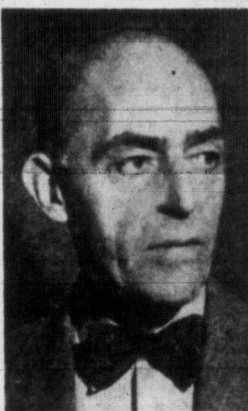

Veteran Referee Plans Retirement At End of Season

CHEMUNUS—R. J. "Dick" Duncan, a registered basketball referee and chairman of the Chemunus Referees' Association, has announced he will retire at the end of this season.

He received his early training in Victoria in 1923-24. During the last war, he refereed many games in eastern Canada and in England, France and Belgium.

Mr. Duncan estimates he has refereed 2,600 games, and in his capacity as referee, has covered between 9,000 and 10,000 miles, worn out 16 pairs of running shoes, and 18 whistles.

Pro-U.S. Hatoyama Wins Power In Left-Swinging Japanese Vote

TOKYO (UP)—Japan shifted slightly to the left in Sunday's general elections, but confirmed by a nearly two-to-one vote its postwar alliance with the United States, final official returns showed today.

Prime Minister Ichiro Hatoyama's Democratic party, conservative but pledged to seek co-existence with all nations, including Red China and Russia, won working control of Parliament and the right to form a new government.

His immediately rejected talk of merger or coalition with the other conservative bloc, the Liberal party of former prime minister Shigeru Yoshida, said he would form a one-party cabinet.

The House of Representatives, elected in Sunday's record vote by more than 37,000,000 Japanese—76 per cent of those eligible—will elect the new prime minister about March 10.

Final unofficial returns gave Democrats 186 seats, Liberals 116, left-Socialists 89, right-Socialists 67, Labor-Farmers 4, Communists 2 and others 6.

LEFTISTS GAIN 21

The two conservative parties suffered a net loss of eight seats while the left-wing parties gained a net of 21 seats. The anti-American left-Socialists scored the biggest gain, a 15-seat advance.

The Socialists won just enough seats to block a threatened conservative move to revise the "MacArthur" constitution which bans full-scale rearmament and makes the emperor a figurehead. Constitutional amendments require a two-thirds vote in the House, and the Liberals and Democrats combined fell 15 votes short of this.

Big city votes, where labor union organizations were concentrated, moved the Socialists up to a position of major political importance for the first time since 1948.

In broad outline, however, the vote was a confirmation of the anti-Communist pro-Western alignment of Japanese policy since the Second World War.

The South Pole was discovered by Roald Amundsen in 1911, after a 55-day trek with dog sleds across the great ice shelf.

The Cost of Unemployment

THE SOCIAL CREDIT GOVERNMENT in Victoria, like the Conservative Opposition in Parliament, is deliberately misrepresenting the Federal Government's responsibility for unemployment relief.

Unemployment, says Mr. Wicks, the provincial minister of labor, is a federal responsibility, a matter with which "no provincial government can successfully cope." The "moral, financial and constitutional obligation clearly rests with Ottawa." That obligation, Mr. Wicks adds, was accepted by the Federal Government at its conference with the provinces in 1945.

The same statement was made in Parliament recently by Mr. Hees, the chief organizer of the Conservative Party. He quoted the late Mr. MacKenzie King as saying at the federal-provincial conference of 1941 that: "The transfer to the Federal Government of the whole cost of relief for the employable unemployed and their dependents is the logical outcome of the experience of the past. It would prevent a repetition of the confusion, the inefficiency, the waste, the delay and the inequalities that have admittedly prevailed since 1930."

That paragraph in Mr. King's statement, quoted alone, would seem to support Mr. Hees and Mr. Wicks. But they have failed to notice, or at least to quote what Mr. King said next: "Obviously the Dominion could not take over . . . the whole cost of relief without compensating adjustments. The proposed exercise by the Dominion Government of the exclusive right to levy income tax, corporation tax and succession duties represents . . . the one way in which we can finance our great and growing obligation efficiently and equitably, and at the same time assume the additional burdens it is proposed should be transferred from the provinces to the Dominion."

Such was the basic assumption of the Rowell-Sirois Report—the Federal Government should accept responsibility for the unemployed but only if it had sufficient revenues to support the cost. And to be sure of those revenues it must have exclusive control of the basic tax fields.

It was prevented from securing that exclusive control by a political combination of the Ontario and Quebec Governments, led by Mr. Drew and Mr. Duplessis. Ontario finally agreed to rent its basic tax fields to Ottawa, under Premier Frost, but the Conservative Party, from the beginning of this dispute, always backed Mr. Duplessis against the Federal Government and is still backing him today.

The chief significance of the Federal Government's latest policy—its decision to reduce its own income tax by ten per cent in provinces which levy a provincial tax—is that the fifteen-year attempt to centralize the basic tax fields in Ottawa has been abandoned.

It has been abandoned for reasons of administration, finance and politics. Whether the abandonment is wise or unwise, the fact remains that in Quebec, and other provinces of like mind, the Federal Government has carved out of the basic tax fields an exclusive preserve for the use of the provincial governments. Within certain limits they can levy their own income and corporation taxes without double-taxing their people.

Thus the condition laid down by Mr. King in 1941 and again in 1945 has not been achieved. The Federal Government has not secured exclusive possession of the basic tax fields which it needs if it is to accept exclusive responsibility for unemployment.

That being so, it is quite wrong for Mr. Wicks to say that constitutionally the obligation for unemployment rests solely with the Federal Government. There is nothing in our constitution to support such a statement, nothing to relieve the provinces from their responsibility.

This does not mean, of course, that Ottawa has no responsibility. Of course it has, but not exclusive responsibility by any means. It has responsibility for the general prosperity of the nation, but the primary responsibility for the relief of the unemployed under our constitution still rests with the provinces and the responsibility of the Federal Government is secondary. It will help if and when the cost of unemployment becomes too large for the provinces to carry and already is helping by huge public works this year. That may well be considered an unsatisfactory situation but it is the situation compelled by the provinces which, for wise or unwise reasons, have refused to give the Federal Government the tax fields it needs before it can accept full responsibility for unemployment.

Clarify the UBC Lands Issue

ALL FRIENDS OF THE UNIVERSITY of British Columbia were encouraged by Premier Bennett's budget announcement of $10,000,000 capital development plans for Point Grey.

Friends of the university are not, on the other hand, reassured by the nebulous proposals from Lands Minister Sommers for the exploitation of University Endowment Lands to implement that program.

Mr. Sommers' plan is not clear, nor will it be until more details are made public. Enough has been said, however, to create misgivings. Those misgivings stem from the belief that long-term endowment proceeds may be lost to the university by having them channeled into provincial general revenue. From that source they could then be doled out to meet running expenses of the university. Instead of having an endowment separate and distinct to supplement any direct government grant, the funds, it is feared, might be used as part of the grant itself.

This is a possibility which has created genuine concern among friends of the university. Before that anxiety grows it might be well for the government to establish a public advisory committee to study the whole question. Such a committee could examine in detail the lands minister's plans, determine their effect on the university, the people concerned with the endowment lands, the city of Vancouver, and all parties connected with the project.

There can be little complaint against the Government's principle of seeking action on the endowment lands. Development of them has been slow and of no appreciable value from a revenue producing point of view. But no action should in any way prejudice the university's interest in proceeds from development. It should have first claim, and does have first claim historically, on funds from that source.

Perhaps Mr. Sommers' proposals will reveal this to be the Government's intention. If that is the case, no time should be lost in providing so welcome a reassurance. But at all events there should be study of the question by the interested parties. And the aim of such a study should be the protection and advancement of the university's interests.

A New Era at Sea

IN THE MIDST OF ARGUMENT over the adequacy of its air forces, Britain has launched a new $70-million aircraft carrier and announced a new era for the Royal Navy.

Gone, according to a Government white paper, are the days of huge dreadnaughts and massed fleets. The navy of tomorrow—indeed of today—must consist of aircraft carriers, guided missile ships and escorts. These vessels, built for speed as well as striking power, will be able to disperse rapidly in the face of atomic attack, and then as rapidly regroup to deliver a concentrated blow.

Disclosure of the new guided missile ships appears to spell the doom of heavy sea guns. Ship-to-air, and later ship-to-ship, guided missiles are to replace them, with much deadlier effect. Combined with atomic bombing planes and super-sonic fighters, it will be difficult to distinguish, in battles of the future, whether the engagement is naval or aerial.

What could never have been envisioned even in the dreams of the sea dogs of another day may well become the nightmare of our own time. In any case the Royal Navy has cast the die and is prepared to carry its traditions into the atomic age.

Whose Air?

WHY DO AMERICANS REGARD Canada as a land of ice and snow?

Mr. Tom Sturgess, the new deputy minister of Trade and Industry, has the answer. In an address to the Publicity Bureau last week he blamed it all on radio, and the chilling cliché: "A cold wave is sweeping down from Canada."

"That air," argues Mr. Sturgess, "has to start somewhere, and I'm sure it doesn't all start in Canada." But how to refute this libel? Has Mr. Sturgess courage enough to attempt the education of American radio announcers?

French Pastry

Chips

BY DAVID BROCK

I HAVE been studying a stray cat which has attached itself to my house and household. It also attached itself for a few seconds to my son's pet mouse-house and household but we severed that connection with abrupt violence. And the subject of violence towards cats brings me right over my target for today, which is the attitude of cats to men and vice-versa.

For thousands of years now, we poor old members of the human race have been swallowing a myth about cats being snooty and independent and aloof and mysterious and all that. Well, it just ain't so. On the surface it appears to be true enough. But we experts on comparative psychology are not the boys to be satisfied with appearances. There is neither science nor bread-and-butter in face values.

KIPLING added a good deal to the myth in his children's story about a cave-man and the Cat That Walked by Itself. Well, the Abbe Breuil, of whom you may have heard, is the world's greatest authority on cave drawings and paintings. It is to him that you owe whatever you know of cave art, really. And the good Abbe knows lots of other things besides caves. For example, he knows men and he knows cats. He told my brother in South Africa that if you pick up a cat by the tail . . . firmly, and with authority, and taking care not to get scratched . . . that cat is not only your slave for life but your devoted slave. Your unassuming dupe. I don't mean just juggling maliciously at its tail on the floor. I mean a masterful suspension of the entire cat, clear of the ground. Cave-man stuff, in fact.

THE cat laps it up. It likes to know who's boss. It is nuts over apaches. Women may not really like being beaten up, or very few of them. You don't hear many women saying in police court: "He hasn't been a very good husband to me, your honor, but I'll say this for the poor sot, he was always very obliging about holding me upside down and shaking the daylight out of me." With cats, however, it is far otherwise. They appreciate it. I have told many people about the Abbe Breuil's secret of cat-charming, and they all agree that it works wonders.

AND that sort of treatment has worked on our present stray cat, too. Not just tail-tossing, either, but any old violence at all. The harder we try to make him feel unwelcome, the more he knows we are his kind of people. We talk his language. We obviously love him, he says, or we wouldn't be trying to throw him over the moon. We wouldn't take those pains with him. And love (this cat informs me) is not only an infinite capacity for taking pains, but for inflicting them too. He says it isn't necessarily true that "each man kills the thing he loves," but it is well-known to cats that each man gives the thing he loves a pretty rough time. And it's this sort of thing that makes the world go round, the cats all say.

WELL, that doesn't sound any too aloof and independent to me. Snooty? Quite the reverse. It sounds servile. I have come to realize that cats are only snooty with people who haven't the strength or the desire to knock the tar out of them. They are, you might say, muscle-snobs. I once knew a very foolish young woman . . . so foolish, in fact, that she even got fired by the book department of a big store, and that, believe me, is the final test of folly. This young woman fell in love with an enormous and highly unsatisfactory Russian for no other reason than his ability to hold her above his head and press her against the ceiling throughout a long, dull evening. Obviously, she was a fool of no insignificant calibre. Her Russian maniac would have done well to have pressed her eyeball against a specially sharpened chandelier. But any true cat would have considered her both normal and lucky. And my point is that nobody could ever have called this girl snooty and aloof and independent and mysterious. And thus with cats.

GUARANTEED STAINLESS

"NO comic book can possibly hurt children raised in good homes," says Spencer H. Crookes, state director of the Washington Children's Home Society. Nor can anything else hurt them, if their minds are perfect. But how do you know yours is a good home? And even if it is, how do you know your children are being raised in it and remaining raised? My children get slightly raised indoors, and then they get slightly lowered outdoors, though ours is a "good" district . . . ha-ha twice.

And how do we know that Mr. Spencer H. Crookes knows what he is talking about? He says "Comics are no more harmful than Grimm's fairy tales." To begin with, the brothers Grimm may have had all sorts of nasty effects. (Has he read any Grimm lately?) And in any event, the brothers Grimm did not awaken, even by accident, a precocious consciousness. The "love" comics awaken it quite deliberately. You needn't be a prude to think this a pity. Lubricious little boys may be a permanent and unavoidable evil. But to turn them into dirty old men in their early teens is something different. And, I think, quite new. They may have had it in Pompeii. I wasn't there. But what was so good about Pompeii?

NO CIRCLES

I see by the press there is a likelihood of Beaver Lake Park being used for racing purposes—I also read something about an underpass, a circle and other devices for controlling the traffic 'gym, and too, this proposed sporting paradise.

I plead with the promoters of this enterprise to forget all about circles and underpasses. I can understand men in charge of transportation making one mistake in having made a circle—and what a blunder it has been. It never should have been put there in the first place. My suggestion if you do decide to use Beaver Lake for the above purpose would be to fix the road that is there leading into the south end of Beaver Lake.

SCHOOL AND MILITARY

The report in your paper seems to indicate that our school trustees are anxious to dissociate themselves from any appearance of aiding in the defense of Canada.

Many of your readers will wonder if these trustees are required to take an oath of office, and will wonder how the oath is worded.

The educational system of any country might be truly termed that country's first line of defense.

We must guard against the "Zomoie" type of school direction.

FREE SPEECH

Reference your article "An apology is due" in which you say:

"The Trades Council would improve its position in the eyes of the public by seeing that the delegate tenders it (an apology) without delay."

The Trades and Labour Council maintains a policy of free speech at its meetings and whilst disapproving the expressions used has no quarrel with the delegate for expressing his opinions, moreover, it has no power to discipline delegates; that power remains with the Union to which the delegate belongs.

I do not believe that you can disagree with our policy of free speech, judging by your reaction in the past when it appeared to be threatened.

As to your condemnation of the taste and judgment of the delegate, the Council may agree with you but equally it condemns your lack of judgment in that you displayed a greater desire for sensationalism than for facts of greater importance.

The Council is desirous of keeping its meetings open to the press and recognizes that a reporter's job is to report, with that we have no quarrel, but in its obsession for the sensational the editing is often deplorable and is responsible for the fact that the press has been barred from meetings at which it might otherwise be welcome.

LOOKING TO TOMORROW

Mr. Sommers has outlined with suavity sacred intention to proceed with the Kaiser Dam project notwithstanding. It was a renegade announcement in terms of Canada for Canadians and ended with these words in relation to the Mica dam: "which will also have to be built with United States capital at a cost of 400 million dollars. B.C. will have the cheapest power in the world."

Few brains and little imagination are required to separate the "millions" quoted, from the "power" mentioned. The power is potentially ours, the millions actually U.S.A. monies.

The Kaiser Dam proposal is a "For Sale" notice tacked into our birthright by a Government-in-a-hurry which would accommodate a few and sell the others down the river—the "others" being our children who are not yet able to protect their assets.

The Sacred contention that Ottawa is playing politics in this matter is tantamount to proclaiming that the Federal House is vigilant for Canada towards conservation of her wealth for the future. The Dominion Parliament holds Canada in trust for "Canadians" of tomorrow, as well as of today.

AFRAID? OF WHAT?

Some church-propagandists can't even stomach Mrs. Marian N. Sherman's reasonable ideas in "Free Discussion," where she offers some peaceable solution to the controversy, those die-hards show that they are afraid of a free discussion.

It must be clear enough to any unbiased person that those propagandists want to confuse children's minds, that they do camouflage reality, to be able to use those minds, and the bodies, which house them, for their own purposes.

All those—in fact everybody—had better read the article in Feb. '55 issue of Liberty, "Thank God, I'm an Atheist." Many of us, who have no use for churchianity, have gone through experiences, similar to those described in that article. And it is certainly to the credit of Liberty, that it has printed same; the more so, where the editor states that Liberty does not subscribe to the views expressed therein, while in future issues different churchmen will have their say.

F. H. STAVERMAN.

SCIENTIFIC OUTLOOK

Mr. Holdcroft's criticisms of my letter headed "Free Discussion" seem to call for a reply.

He says: "Man cannot create . . ." A dictionary gives: "create—to produce from existing materials a body invested with new powers and qualities." Moreover the synonyms of "create" are given as: "to make, form, cause, occasion, produce, constitute, appoint."

Is not the basis for free discussion the right to make any statement or claim with a view to proving whether it is reasonable or not?

"In the environment in which we live man is of the highest order . . ." Here Mr. Holdcroft gives a large measure of support to my claim for the uniqueness of Man. It would be very interesting to know what he considers to be the characteristics of beings of a higher order.

True there are scientists who in childhood were so severely conditioned into belief in "a Power behind the Universe" that they have not yet been able to free themselves from it; but there is a steadily increasing number of people in every country and every walk of life (except perhaps the theological) who see the scientific attitude as the only rational one.

Professor Waddington in his book "The Scientific Attitude" writes: " . . . however much one may point out that a world imbued with a scientific outlook would be tolerant, sympathetic and sincere, there will remain many people who will regard the whole thing with horror. The old ways in which one was brought up have an extraordinary hold, and for many people any idea of change is hateful . . . In (England and America) the scientific spirit is already a powerful influence, and there is no other alternative outlook on the world which seems strong enough to cause much friction; science's battle with the only other strongly entrenched system of thought, that is to say, religion, is now ancient history."

Has Mr. Holdcroft learnt anything except through his physical senses? By what other means can Man recognise anything?

Supporters of the scientific attitude deplore the unrealistic attitude which maintains the existence of that which cannot be described. If a concept cannot be explained in terms which convey a comprehensible picture to those who value intellectual honesty it is absurd to maintain that it has an objective existence.

History of the Bridge

Mrs. Jessie Gray suggests you give "the public some history about the Lion's Gate Bridge," and its connection with "the former Liberal government" who made that magnificent bridge possible.

As far as any government was concerned the granting of the charter to build the bridge was due to the Conservative Prime Minister R. B. Bennett's 1930-35 Dominion government, of which the Hon. H. H. Stevens was MP for Vancouver and Minister of Trade and Commerce. The right of provincial transportation across the bridge would naturally be included in the charter.

But the bridge originated as part of the plans for Vancouver's Civic Centre, which included driving a broad avenue from the foot of Georgia Street through Stanley Park which would be carried by a suspension bridge across the First Narrows. At that time, about 1912, it was also proposed to establish a Free Port Unit on the flats to the east of the Capilano. Both the late Senators Bosstick and Ian Mackenzie (the latter a coming young Liberal) were ardent advocates of the Free Port system, in which by the way Victoria was also included.

In those days Norton Griffith Co. of London, Eng., was carrying on a good deal of construction work in Vancouver. The company became interested in these plans and their engineer, a Mr. Harvey DuCane, if memory serves, privately designed a bridge for the First Narrows and estimated the cost just "in case." The late Mr. F. C. Wade, a leading Liberal lawyer, was always absolutely opposed to any driving of such avenues through Stanley Park, which he and many others desired preserved in its natural state. They naturally opposed the bridge. Then the 1914-18 war started and all such activities, like the completion of the PGE by Foley, Welch & Stewart, were abandoned.

However, the general plans had also stimulated the imagination of a young engineer from Nanaimo, A. J. G. Taylor, who after serving as a salesman with the Schaeke Machine Works in New Westminster, opened an office in Vancouver. He was an extremely able salesman, very much akin to the type so admired by Lord Beaverbrook, and eventually as agent for a large internal combustion company in the United States, migrated to London via Toronto.

Eventually he interested the Guinness family in the bridge and its concomitant, the Pacific Properties, in the slopes above West Vancouver. But to build the bridge it was necessary to obtain the permission of the Dominion Government.

The problem of the width of the span for the bridge between its supports was naturally of paramount importance to navigation of those treacherous tide rips and created a good deal of controversy at the time.

Eventually the bridge was constructed very much as originally planned, with the help of Mr. H. H. Stevens' advocacy in Ottawa.

But all of these matters and their relation to the PGE and various proposals for linking it with the CPR or CNR over the bridge or through a tunnel, took place a long time before Premier W. A. C. Bennett landed in Kelowna, and had nothing whatever to do with the Provincial Government other than the possibility of linking the PGE to some terminal across the water. The Guinness family was not interested in political manoeuvres but solely in investment.

NATURAL WEAPON
Our great weapon in this battle against the desert is trees. Trees battle the earth and prevent it from drifting, they produce life-giving vegetable mould, and as well as providing food themselves they put moisture into the air. One of the great elms in Hyde Park or Kensington Gardens will push four hundred gallons of water into the air in the course of a hot summer day. Trees are the lungs of the city and the life of the countryside.

—Richard Baker, founder of the organization "The Men of the Trees."

The Weed

PULL out the battered black tobacco pouch with the broken zipper. Feel for the packet of cigarette papers and draw one out with zigzag motion.

Clamp it firmly to your lip while you pinch up enough tobacco. Lay the little brownish shreds on the paper, now transferred to horny palm.

Pat them, prod them, roll them tentatively. Lift the little white cylinder as carefully as a mother lifts her newborn babe, and lick with carefully calculated spittle the flapping, gummy edge of paper. Nip off the straggly ends, and save them carefully for another time.

Ruth

Feel in the pocket again for a match. Flick it with your thumb (disgusting habit!) or strike it on your boot, the seat of your pants or anything that's handy.

Take a drag and don't think about mice getting cancer. (Really mice shouldn't smoke!) Anchor the cigarette to a lip and let it waggle while you squinty up your eyes against the smoke.

Never mind if it's gone out. Just keep it wagging there while you talk. (One end is charred and slightly hollow where the tobacco fell out. The other end is brown, pinched flat, and not an entirely pretty sight.)

But this one doesn't roll his own. He gave it up when he got that raise in pay.

It's tallornades for him these days, though he still laments that tallornades don't give him a really decent smoke.

So pull out the brand-new package, fidget nervously for the little red strip. Tug it with impatient motion, throw the wrapper on the street. ("What the heck? We pay taxes, don't we? Let some other guy pick it up.")

This one's a more sophisticated type. He has a cigarette case, monogrammed and costly. And oh, that lighter! That must have cost him plenty. Flick, flick, flick, but it doesn't light. He forgot to fill it up with more fluid. But don't laugh. He'll tell you all about it anyway, and how it's the best lighter on the market. Meanwhile, he'll just borrow a match!

But this one has a pipe. What a filthy evil thing. And how he loves it. Watch him scrape that bowl with a pocket knife. Doesn't the sound set your nerves on edge? What's he going to do with the dottle? He's put it in the ash tray. His wife has got him properly trained.

Now he's putting in the fresh tobacco, tamping it down with a skill that only comes from years of practice. That's five matches he's used with hollowed cheeks and anxious puff, puff, puff.

But it's going. The tension's over. Now we can resume the conversation with the mind that can only think of one thing at a time.

Oh, Lord! It's gone out. But he's going to keep it there clutched between the manly teeth. He'll keep it there, hour after hour, like a baby with a comforter. I bet he only takes it out to eat and kiss the wife.

Yep, home-loving type with slippers and pipe. See him sitting, just sitting, in the big arm chair. He won't take you out to a show tonight. He doesn't want to hear what the girls said at the club.

No, be quiet, children. Dad's reading the paper. Can't you hear him tut-tutting about how the world is going to the dogs?

Ah, let him sit and have his pipe in peace. It's a very little vice. His only comfort in a hard, hard world!

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

New Test for Polio

Dr. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic, and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

It is wonderfully good news that in 27 laboratories throughout the nation a new color test for polio virus has been put to work. It is a test which shows whether or not the virus is present in some blood or spinal fluid or digestive juice. When some material taken from a sick child is put into a tube which contains growing kidney cells from a normal monkey, if polio virus is present it will kill the kidney cells.

Alvarez

So long as they live, they keep producing an acid which changes the "phenol red" to yellow. Naturally, when the kidney cells are killed by a virus, they no longer produce the acid, and hence the fluid in the tube remains red. With this technique the workers can walk down a row of hundreds of tubes and instantly pick out the ones containing virus.

In order to find out if antibodies against polio are in a child's blood, part of his blood sample and some virus are put together in a tube with kidney cells. If antibody is present it will block the growth of the polio virus and then the liquid in the tube will remain red.

The only drawback to this test is that it may take a week for the result to be definite. Research is now going forward to find the ideal test which will give an answer to the doctor's question within a matter of hours. No one not a research worker can realize how greatly a discovery like this, in technique, can speed up the conquest of a disease.

THE FIGHT OF CANCER

Recently, the Sloan-Kettering Institute in New York reported ten major gains in the fight on cancer. (1) The transplantation of human cancers into laboratory animals; (2) an improvement in the rates of cure for soft tissue sarcomas (a kind of cancer); (3) the synthesis in the Wellcome Research Laboratories of 6-mercaptopurine, which is one of the best new drugs for prolonging life in cases of acute leukemia (a cancer of the blood-forming organs); (4) an increase through the years in the number of patients with cancer of the stomach who can be operated on; (5) the proof that circumcision of male infants will years later lower the incidence of cancer of the cervix of the womb in the wife; (6) the development of surgical techniques which, in a very few cases, make possible the removal of cancer of the liver; (7) the development of effective treatment for formerly uncontrollable small blood vessel tumors which kept constantly bleeding heavily (hemorrhagic telangiectasia); (8) the adaptation of a virus to destroy, rapidly and completely, human cancer cells of one type in the test tube; (9) the definition of two types of breast cancer, requiring different treatments; (10) the discovery that cortisone as well as sex hormones will temporarily control the growth of the cells of some advanced breast cancers.

THE COMMON COLD

Recently, Dr. W. H. Price, of Johns Hopkins School of Hygiene and Public Health, received the $1,000 Theobald Smith Award for his researches on flare-ups in smoldering infections. He said that there are more than 150 viruses that have been isolated from human noses and throats. Many of the persons who harbor these viruses remain well, but some do have recurrent symptoms suggesting a cold.

One of the great problems of developing vaccines that will protect us human beings against colds and influenza is that there are so many different viruses that live in our throats. Worse yet, these viruses are constantly changing in type. We physicians don't know yet why these viruses can live for a long time in many a man's throat without causing him any trouble. We do not know why, suddenly, one of them will flare up and cause serious illness or even death. It is this problem that Dr. Price is trying to solve.

HYDROCORTISONE AND SKIN DISEASE

Dr. Harry M. Robinson Jr., of Baltimore, reported at a recent meeting of the American Academy of Dermatology and Syphilology, that a two-year study of 1,566 patients with skin troubles has shown that the local application of hydrocortisone in an oily base is effective in a high percentage of cases.

IS RHEUMATIC FEVER HEREDITARY?

To some persons who have asked if rheumatic fever is ever hereditary, I can say that my impression is that there is some family tendency to the disease. I remember cases in which I saw two members of a family ill with it at the same time. This fact suggested that they were both unusually susceptible to infection with the particular streptococcus or germ. There is no question that some persons are more than usually subject to infection by a germ, like the tubercle bacillus.

A hen owned by Mrs. H. Golisch has laid an egg weighing just under four ounces. The egg measures 6 1/2 and 3 1/2 inches in circumference.

Mrs. Golisch said her chickens have laid many double and triple-yoked eggs, but the latest egg laid by her New Hampshire hen, is the biggest so far.

Sacred Promises Canadians Dividends of $5 Billion

REGINA (CP) — Martin Kellin, vice-president of the Saskatchewan Social Credit League, said Sunday that Social Credit would "stop recession in its tracks" and give Canadians a $5,000,000,000 dividend.

Addressing the People's Forum, the Duval farmer said this was the difference between the national production figure and the total national income. "Canada produced $24,630,000,000 worth of goods in 1953," he said. "The national income was $19,000,000,000. In this way $5,000,000,000 worth of goods was on the shelves. The people could not afford to buy them. "Old-line politicians call this over-production. It is the blun-

Douglas Will Fight to Keep Tax Agreement

MOOSE JAW, Sask. (BUP) — Canada faces the possibility of becoming like "10 little Balkan states . . . greedy and quarrelsome," Premier T. C. Douglas of Saskatchewan said Sunday in criticism of the current tax-rental agreements between the provinces and the federal government.

"Unless the people of Saskatchewan tell me otherwise," he said, he would go to a new federal-provincial conference to fight "for the implementation of principles and promises made at the previous conference" in 1945.

"I will fight for the setting up of a strong central government fund to maintain full employment and a high level of agricultural income and prosperity," he said.

Job Creating Plans Promised by Ottawa

HAMILTON (CP) — The federal government is taking measures to lessen future unemployment, particularly during the winter months, Labor Minister Gregg said Saturday.

Speaking to members of the Ontario Women's Liberal Association, Mr. Gregg said federal authorities expect to be able to fight winter unemployment, especially in construction industries, with proper planning.

The possibility that such planning would take the form of a large-scale housing program was hinted by Mr. Gregg earlier in the day when he addressed a joint meeting of representatives of the Hamilton

$6,000 RICHER

Souchak Captures Houston Open Golf

HOUSTON (AP)—Big Mike Souchak of Durham, N.C., fired a seven-under-par 65 Sunday to win $6,000 in top money in the $30,000 Houston open, richest tournament on the winter tour.

Souchak's 63 and earlier rounds of 70, 71 and 67 gave him a 15-under-par 273 for the 7,200-yard Memorial Park course. It left him two strokes ahead of little Jerry Barber, Los Angeles, who placed a final round 71 with his record breaking 63 of Saturday for a 275 total and $3,200 in second money.

A former football star at Duke University, Souchak had no bogies Sunday while compiling rounds of 33-32 to run his money winnings in two weeks to $8,500, having won $2,500 as the Texas open a week ago.

Gerry Kesselring of Kitchener, Ont., starting the day with a three-round total of 212, finished with a 69 and a 281 total to win $635 prize money.

Jack Burke, Jr., the 1952 winner and Shelley Mayfield of Chicopee, Mass., finished in a tie at 278 for third place. Each posted a 69 for the final round and each picked up a cheque for $2,000.

BIG FOUR VIDEO 'VERY ENCOURAGING'

OTTAWA (CP)—D. Wes Brown said Saturday that prospects of NBC televising Big Four football games in the United States next season are "very encouraging."

The Big Four secretary-treasurer said NBC has until March 23 to decide whether it will take up the 1955 television option.

The contract with the sponsor apparently has not yet been signed, said Brown, but the outlook is "very encouraging."

Bay Ruggers Capture City Championship

James Bay Athletic Association used their specialty—the second-half rally—to capture their third-straight senior rugby championship Saturday at Macdonald Park.

The Oarsmen scored all their points in the second half as they blanked Oak Bay Wanderers, 11-0, in the second game of a two-game, total-point series.

In the opening game of the series last week, Wanderers beat JBAA, 11-9, the Oarsmen roaring from behind an 11-0 deficit to score all their points and cut Wanderers' lead to two points.

The freezing wind kept scoring down to the minimum in the first half Saturday, but JBAA jumped into the lead early in the second half when Gary Pynn, kicking with the wind, booted a 35-yard penalty goal.

Ken Higgs set Pynn up for a 30-yard try minutes later and big Ed Bourke thundered 30 yards for the clinching try, converted by Pynn. The result gave the Barnard Cup to the Oarsmen by a series score of 20-11.

In the only other game of the day, Vancouver St. George's School scored a 16-6 victory over Glenlyon School in an exhibition match.

Curtis Assured Of Chess Crown

Tom Curtis defeated Lou Kelle last week to clinch a first-place finish in the Victoria and District Chess Championships.

Curtis' victory protected his 1½-point lead over Dr. S. Marinker, second-place holder who downed A. Sheard. As both players have only one match remaining, Dr. Marinker cannot overtake Curtis.

Results, standings and schedule follow.

Vic High Runners Take Road Race

The more experienced Victoria High School cross-country running team received a surprisingly strong battle from the Milne's Landing High School team Saturday in a 2½-mile exhibition run.

Under the reverse scoring, Vic High won 28-60 but it was a fine showing for the Milne's Landing team making its second competitive start, in placing runners third and fifth.

Vic High's Jim Pickup was the first runner over the course, coming in after 12 minutes, three seconds. Second was Ian Fraser of Vic-High and Gordy Eve of Milne's Landing was third.

Clippers Get Jump In Island Ice Final

Second Game Scheduled Here Tonight

Nanaimo 10, C & C 6

Nanaimo Clippers got the draw on C & C Taxi in Nanaimo Saturday night, handing the Taximen a 10-6 defeat to take a one-game lead in the best-of-five series for the Vancouver Island Amateur Hockey Association playoff title.

The clubs meet tonight in the second game of the series, C & C Taxi having the advantage of home ice at Memorial Arena. Game-time tonight is 8:30. The preliminary game, starting at 7, will be the first game of the Pacific Coast juvenile championship series between Victoria and New Westminster.

Clippers faced a manpower shortage in the defensive ranks, George Milford and Bruno Furlan still being sidelined with injuries. However, the combination of veteran Bob Kemp and rookie George Willgress turned in double duty and was largely responsible for the Nanaimo victory.

The powerful Nanaimo attack was "sparkplugged" by playing coach Red Carr and Earl Robinson, both scoring two goals.

Clippers' margin of victory would have been higher had it not been for the solid work of C & C Taxi goaltender George Hall, who had a busy and brilliant night between the pipes.

Joe Zuback and Kemp scored in the first period for Clippers, Don Ashbee replying once for C & C as the Nanaimo club took a 2-1 lead.

BREAK LOOSE
After Lawrie Plensky and Ashbee had exchanged goals early in the second period, Clippers broke the game open with four straight tallies. Clippers took a 7-3 bulge into the last period and both clubs counted three goals in the final frame.

Ashbee, Brown and Evans carried the scoring load for the Victoria club. Ashbee and Brown each scored twice while Evans picked up one goal and set up another.

SUMMARY
First period—Nanaimo, Zuback (Dumont) 15:02; C & C Taxi, Ashbee (Brown) 3:56. Nanaimo, Carr (Gordau) 4:54; 7. Nanaimo, Robinson (Kemp, Gordau) 9:52; 8. Nanaimo, Smith (Zuback) 13:05; 9. Third period—C & C Taxi, T. Brown (Ashbee) 10:06; 12. Nanaimo, Gordau (Willgress, Gilchrist) 14:37; 13. Nanaimo, Gilchrist 15:30; 14. C & C Taxi, T. Brown (Evans, McCall) 16:10; 15. Tribe Holdouts
CLEVELAND (AP)—"Someone is being unreasonable and I don't think it's me," general manager Hank Greenberg said as his Cleveland Indians headed for Tucson, Ariz., today with one-fourth of the club roster still unsigned.

Greenberg is concerned primarily about three stars who will become holdouts unless they come to terms before the first practice session Tuesday morning. The odds are that all three—pitcher Early Wynn, second-baseman Bob Avila and centre-fielder Larry Doby—won't be in uniform in Arizona for a while.

BLACKWELL REINSTATED; TO REJOIN YANKEES

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—New York Yankees announced Sunday that pitcher Ewell Blackwell has asked for reinstatement and the request has been promptly granted. He will report to the Yankee spring training camp.

Blackwell came to the Yankees in the middle of the 1952 season in a trade from Cincinnati for $30,000 and four players. He developed arm trouble the following year and went on the voluntarily retired list July 6, 1953.

City Midgets Capture Island Hockey Title

Dale Daiziel scored four goals Saturday to lead the Victoria Midgets to a 10-4 victory over Nanaimo in the second game of a two-game, total-goal series for the Island championship.

Saturday's victory gave Victoria the title on a 13-7 score for the round, the first game ending in a 3-3 tie.

Daiziel scored three straight goals in the second period and added a fourth in the last period to lead the Victoria club.

The new Island champs left today for the mainland, where they will meet Kerrisdale in a two-game series for the coast championship.

Symphony Program 'Discerning, Vital'

Critic Says Orchestra Advancing In Efficiency and Responsiveness

By AUDREY S.T.D. JOHNSON, Times Music Critic

One of the season's most delightful programs was presented Sunday afternoon by the Victoria Symphony Orchestra.

The emphasis was on music of atmosphere with Debussy's unfamiliar Rhapsody for saxophone and orchestra bringing into the solo artists' spot, Howard Denike of the woodwind choir.

Occupying the podium was assistant conductor and concert master, Clifford Evens, while Vilem Sokol, who has adjudicated instrumental classes several times at the Victoria Music Festival and is a member of the music faculty of the University of Washington, was guest concert master.

That Mr. Evens is a thoroughly efficient and musicianly conductor was clearly established in a satisfying interpretation of Brahms' Second Symphony, a successful performance of Wagner's "Rienzi" Overture and thoroughly charming excerpts from the "Damnation of Faust" by Berlioz, as well as that composer's Rakocsy March.

GREAT PRECISION

His style is extremely clear, he has great precision of beat, drive, and a dynamic feeling for climax and contrast. Obviously a perfectionist in matters of detail, the orchestra rewarded him with a performance of the Berlioz numbers that was sheer delight, particularly in the piquant, elfin Minuet of the Will-o'-the-Wisps and the airy dance of the Sylphs.

Delicate layers of tone threaded with fragmentary utterances in the various voices of the orchestra, the strangely rich yet transparent texture that is Debussy's, formed the loom of sound on which the sweet, impersonal tones of the tenor saxophone were woven.

POISED AND ABLE

A fine musician and a skillful instrumentalist, Mr. Denike gave a poised and able performance which once more underlined Gruber's wisdom in presenting, from time to time, outstanding members of his orchestra as soloists.

In concluding with the Brahms Symphony in D Major, the concert arrived at a worthy climax, for this is music which is among the greatest in all orchestral literature. Perhaps this performance was a little over-restrained, yet it rose to an impressive finale and excellent tempos were set throughout.

'Deep in My Heart'

Jose Ferrer and Doe Avedon as they appear on the Royal screen, starting Tuesday, in "Deep in My Heart," M-G-M's big color musical based on the life and melodies of Sigmund Romberg. Ferrer enacts the famed composer, with Miss Avedon seen as the vivacious girl who became "Mrs. Romberg."

TORONTO OPERA FESTIVAL

'Marriage of Figaro' Captivating, Glowing

BY BILL BOSS

TORONTO (CP)—Mozart's comic opera gem "The Marriage of Figaro," received from Toronto's Opera Festival Company Saturday evening the treatment jewels deserve.

It was the second of three operas to be presented alternately during the coming two weeks. The festival opened Friday with a captivating production of Johann Strauss's lively "Die Fledermaus." (the Bat) and Tuesday sees the first performance of the third—Giuseppe Verdi's "La Traviata."

The Mozart work, a lively cameo of color and melody framed by light-filigree orchestral accompaniment, glowed under the brisk direction of Nicholas Goltschmidt.

As an opening night, the artistic level was astonishing. Limited by the small stage and almost non-existent pit of Toronto's Royal Alexandra Theatre, singers and orchestra tied in to deliver excellent theatre and good music.

The company is not to be compared with the Metropolitan or Covent Garden—or even intimate little Glyndebourne. But compared with German or Italian provincial opera it would be excellent if only the orchestra were larger and could spread out a little, and if the voices were bigger. Its quality, while first rate, is thin.

Jan Rubes, known throughout Canada as commentator and singer on the CBC's "Songs of My People" program, was Figaro, the baritone-valet, whose nimble cunning out-smarts Count Almaviva's melodious lust for pert little Susanna-Figaro's intended.

Roma Butler, originally from St. John's, Nfld., was delightful as Susanna, and Montreal's Andrew MacMillan was properly frustrated as the count who practised a morality more elastic than he preached. Mozart gave the best arias to Cherubino, the page—sung so beautifully by Toronto's Marjorie Hays that the persistent applause she evoked stopped the action several times. And Winnipeg's Mary Morrison was the countess, virtuous and diffident, who finally consents to expose the count to himself by trickery.

Theatre Guild One-Act Plays Well Received

'Weep Quietly' Audience Choice

It was playwright's night for the Victoria Theatre Guild on Saturday, when three one-act plays written by members of the Guild occupied the stage of the Langham Court Theatre.

A capacity audience received the original program with enthusiasm, and in recording a vote for the best of the three, which the Guild may enter in the forthcoming South Vancouver Island Drama Festival, chose as their favorite, "Weep Quietly," a tragedy by Carol MacCormac.

It was directed by the author, well staged and skilfully acted by a cast that included Stan Wade, Frances Howarth, Ida Clarkson, Jack Speck and Al Collins.

"The Bust of Margo Jones," a comedy by Avis Walton, who also directed, had in the cast Joan Winther, Dianne Clifford, Ken Bostock, Don Jacobs, Bud Bishop and Roy Blodgett. An amusing piece, fully up to the standard of the majority of published one-act plays, it had a good situation upon which some entertaining lines and action had been built. Pace was excellent and setting effective. The clever sculpture of "Margo Jones" was by Peggy Walton Packard.

Connie Thompson's "Rebel Pioneer," a period piece, had considerable charm, humor and was visually pleasing, but was hampered by inept performance and a slow tempo.

Bruce Bannard directed and the cast included Doreen Curtis, Madeline Johnson, Paddy Stewart—who gave an outstanding performance—Peggy Packard and Heather Hewitt.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Berlin Philharmonic Orchestra opened its American tour Sunday at a capacity audience that stood and cheered at the end of the performance.

"We are not accustomed to such welcomes," conductor Herbert Von Karajan said as well-wishers crowded around him afterwards. "It was wonderful. The orchestra felt it from the start and you could see the effect of that warmth in their playing."

Murder Film Banned By British Censors

LONDON (Reuters)—A television murder film produced by Anthony Beauchamp, Sir Winston Churchill's son-in-law, has been banned by censors here. The film, "Murder in Soho," was based on a recent London murder case. "It is not a good thing to increase morbid public interest in actual crimes by allowing them to be commercialized," the censors ruled.

World Ills Will Yield to Spirit Says Christian Science Speaker

Overwhelming proof that the spiritual understanding of God heals sickness as well as sin, and corrects human discords is a matter of record today, Frank T. Hord of Washington, D.C., told a large audience here on Sunday afternoon.

Present-day results of spiritual understanding contrast sharply with the widely admitted failure of materialism to solve mankind's problems, he said.

"Our more discerning thinkers are telling us that the cure for the ills of the world is to be found in the spiritual teachings of Christ Jesus," he declared.

FORMER CHAPLAIN

A former army combat chaplain, Mr. Hord is on tour as a member of the Christian Science Board of Lectureship. He spoke under the sponsorship of First Church of Christ, Scientist in Victoria. He spoke on "Christian Science: Its Practical Operation."

Sketching the growing spiritual enlightenment of today and its fruits, Mr. Hord said: "Humanity is being healed of so-called incurable diseases by spiritual means; reforms are being made in business methods; theological theories have undergone great change and ethics in general have improved."

DIVINE PRINCIPLE

He said the divine principle of scientific mental healing offers mankind deliverance from all types of trouble—all that would hinder freedom, happiness or health, because it is understood and applied on the basis of a perfect God, perfect divine law and perfect spiritual man in His likeness.

"Our great Master taught us that we must understand God if we wish to live harmoniously," he said. "Every event of your life, your health, longevity, prosperity, and progress depends upon what you know about God."

According to Mr. Hord, the scientific understanding of Christ Jesus' teaching—"the Science of Christianity with its lost art of healing"—is restored in the healing work of Christian Science. He said the method of this work is described clearly in the writings of Mary Baker Eddy, Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science. Basic to these teachings is a fuller love for and understanding of God as an ever present help in daily affairs, he stated.

He said that Christian Scientists "with absolute faith, acknowledge God's power to heal the sick and the sinning."

ALL SAINTS DEDICATED

Archbishop of B.C., Harold E. Sexton, Sunday dedicated the newly-opened $25,000 All Saints' Church, View Royal, before representatives of many city churches and parishoners.

Also participating in the impressive ceremony were the vicar, Canon S. J. Wickens, bishop's chaplain Canon A. E. Greenhalgh, Canon T. M. Hughes and Rev. Hywel J. Jones.

British PWs in Korea Beaten, Made to Kneel on Jagged Rocks

Official Account Tells How Men's Feet Were Deliberately Frozen by Captors

LONDON (AP)—Britain released Sunday the official account of British prisoners of war in Korea—a 41-page story of death, torture and amazing courage.

Here are some of the examples cited in the defense ministry document:

Two Chinese beat one corporal with a club resembling a baseball bat for six hours one night.

One prisoner spent eight hours in handcuffs which were frequently tightened.

Another was forced to stand at attention for 30 hours at a time, with a sentry standing by with a fixed bayonet as "encouragement."

Still another was made to kneel on two small jagged rocks and hold a large rock on his head with his arms extended. Others were marched barefoot on the frozen Yalu River, and in sub-zero temperature their captors poured water over their feet. The water froze immediately and the prisoners were left for hours with their feet frozen into the ice to reflect on their "crimes."

Despite all this and more, many prisoners took it month after month.

One even managed a typical bit of British humor. An officer, he was asked in a written brain washing examination:

"What is the highest form of class struggle?"

The answer the Communists wanted was this: "Civil war between the exploiters and the exploited."

What they got was: "Traveling first class on a third class railway ticket."

One Third of Britons Captured In Korea Became Red Converts

LONDON (Reuters)—A government report said today that a cold-blooded Communist program of physical torture and psychological pressure made almost one-third of the British soldiers captured in Korea act as Communist sympathizers during their captivity.

It is said that out of 978 Britons held by the Communists, only officers and senior non-commissioned-officers remained "almost completely unaffected."

About one-third of the junior non-coms and other men—88 per cent of the total captives—were broken down by the treatment and absorbed sufficient indoctrination to be classed as Communist sympathizers," the British report said.

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

Dialogue for a winter evening in Victoria:

"Sure is a bit nippy out tonight, eh?" ventured the host.
"Don't call this cold, do you?" asked the man from the East.
"Cold enough for me," said the host.
"Of course, you feel the cold more in Victoria," admitted the visitor.
"Well, it was down to 22 last night," the host said, defensively.
"Twenty-two what?" sneered the Easterner. "Twenty-two above, no doubt?"
"What else?" said the host, shivering slightly and throwing another log on the fire.
"Why, where I come from," said the visitor, "twenty-two above is balmy spring weather."
"Why, where I come from," he added, "we think nothing of 22 below."
"I wouldn't think much of it, either," murmured the host.
"Ah, but where I come from, you don't notice the cold," said the man from the East.
"Don't notice it, eh?" asked the host, politely. "Spouse that's because it's a dry cold, eh?"
"How did you know?" asked the visitor.
"Oh, I've heard it mentioned before once," said the host.
"Well, it's true," said the visitor. "Where I come from, when it gets cold in winter, it's not really so cold. Now, you take 33 below zero, for instance..."
"Oh, no, YOU take it," suggested the host.
"No fooling, I've been in 33 below, in the East, that is, and it's healthy. Really. There's a snap in the air. Makes you feel good. You see, it's not really cold, because..."
"Because it's a DRY cold," the host finished.
"Yes, you're right, you're absolutely right. You FEEL the cold more here in Victoria. You don't know what a real healthy winter is like, out here."
"I guess we don't," said the host, sadly. "Too bad. By the way—not to be impolite—but when are you going back East?"
"Oh, hadn't you heard?" said the man from the East. "I've bought a place out here. Going to live here."
"Really?" said the host. "Glad to hear it. Hope to see more of you. But don't you think you'll miss the real winters?"
"Afraid so," said the ex-man-from-the-East. "You really feel the cold out here."
"Yep," said the host, "trouble is, it isn't a DRY cold."

"STOCKING FOR A MERMAID"

Young Chinese Nationalists Organize Victoria League

A new organization known as the Chinese Nationalist League Youth Association was formed in Chinatown Sunday for the purpose of working toward a better understanding of the principles of democracy.

Members included young men and boys who have escaped from Communist China during the past five years and who have come to Victoria to become Canadians. The youths are at present attending school and learning English.

About 75 residents of the Chinese community attended the meeting.

The meeting was preceded by a banquet attended by Arthur Laing, leader of the B.C. Liberal party, and Mrs. Laing, P. A. Gibbs, M.L.A. for Oak Bay, and Mrs. Gibbs.

Others included C. P. Yee, president of the Chinese New Republic, and Mrs. Yee, and Phillip Chan, past president of the Victoria branch, B.C. Restaurant Association.

Visitors on entering the meeting inscribed their names on a scroll of silk and were welcomed by J. H. Lee, school teacher and artist. They were entertained with Chinese music and movies.

Mr. Laing, in a brief address, told the meeting that Canada's strength was through her diversity of races. The Chinese, he said, were one of the most respected race groups in Canada.

Officials of the organization announced that the association would work towards a "better understanding of the principles of democracy and to spread these ideals."

"We must admit that we are lucky to be living in this free country," they said. "We resolve to do our best to become good citizens and to display a spirit of co-operation and to take an interest in the performance of our civic duties."

Officers elected were Jimmy Ho, president; Quan Man Sung, vice-president; David Lee, treasurer; Chue Wong, secretary.

THIS 300-FOOT OVERPASS, now under construction, is an integral part of the new Island Highway outlet from Burnside Road. It's situated near the intersection of Burnside Road and the old Island Highway. It will pass over the CNR track and permit movement of traffic from the new highway to the old in this vicinity. Traffic wanting to switch from the new to the old route will turn off right before getting to the overpass, and swing left in an arc under the span and alongside the CN track, and onto the old highway.

Second Stretch Highway Outlet Ready in May

Old Road Changes
For Sooke Travel

Second portion of Victoria's new Island Highway outlet—from Burnside Road to Goldstream—will be ready for traffic by the end of May.

This was revealed today by an official of Emil Anderson Construction Company, which is building the 5.9-mile section.

A public works department official said paving will be carried out in "late summer."

Traffic will be allowed over the roadway during the summer to permit packing of the surface.

The highway will have 38 feet of pavement with five-foot shoulders.

Finish of this project will complete the city's new highway outlet—more than 10 miles—and provide a fast outlet for Up-Island traffic. The first section—from Douglas Street to Burnside Road—was finished last summer.

A 300-foot steel and reinforced concrete bridge (or overpass) is now being constructed by George H. Wheaton Limited at the intersection of the new highway and Burnside Road.

The span will pass over the CNR track.

An underpass also will be constructed to get under the E. & N. Railway.

The traffic channelling plan, according to the public works department, will require considerable reconstruction on the old highway.

Roughly, here's how the traffic will travel at this intersection of the new highway and the old in the vicinity of Thetis Lake Road and Burnside Road.

If a motorist is traveling up-Island, he will go right through—over the new overpass on top of the CN track.

OFF NEW SECTION
If he wants to get onto the old highway from the new highway—say to go to the Six Mile House or Sooke—he will turn right off the new stretch before getting to the new overpass over the CN.

This will take him off the new highway and on a swing left under the main stream of traffic and alongside the CN track.

He will carry on towards the old highway and go under the E. & N. before joining the old section.

If a motorist is coming to town and wants to get from the old highway to the new, he'll turn off left under the new underpass below the E. & N. and merge with the new highway on the town-side of the overpass.

Reconstruction of the old highway will include re-location of the road behind the Six Mile House. This means elimination of Parsons Bridge as a main artery.

VENTURE CADETS GET DUSTING ABOARD RCN SAILING SHIP

Seventeen young cadets of HMCS Venture are convinced that marine engines will never replace the old-fashioned sail.

They received proof Friday when, Vancouver-bound on a week-end cruise in the training ship HMCS Oriole III, the motor conked out at a most awkward time and place—in Active Pass with a tide-rip and heavy sea running.

Under direction of Lt.-Cmdr. Bryan L. Judd, captain of Oriole, sails were bent on and the sleek, iron-hulled ketch made port on schedule.

It was a wet "voyage" and a new experience for the cadets, most of whom are having their first sea experience while training to enter the RCN as junior officers.

Federal Report Blasts Hopes For New Ferry

Sidney-Mainland Route Would Kill Present
Inner Harbor Run, Transport Department Says

A new Sidney-Mainland ferry service would have to "completely replace" the present inner harbor-Vancouver-CPR service, and would likely mean the end of the Victoria-Seattle run.

This conclusion is reached in a report prepared by the Transportation Economics Bureau of the Federal Department of Transport, at the request of Dr. Frank T. Fahey, Victoria MP.

The report follows representations of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, seeking additional sea links with the mainland to combat the trend toward use of the Nanaimo-Vancouver services.

Dealing with a proposed Sidney-Steveston ferry, the Economics Bureau report stated: "The development of the proposed ferry service on a scale similar to that on the Vancouver-Nanaimo route could only be justified as a complete replacement for the existing Vancouver-Victoria steamship service, and thus its establishment would entail economic and social adjustments of substantial proportions."

"In addition, this... would prove difficult to reconcile with the continuance of the associated Victoria-Seattle service which, by itself, is probably incapable of supporting a steamship operation of the required proportions."

"The abandonment of the long established boat service and the complete re-routing of the still considerable steamer traffic flow would have an important impact upon the commercial structure of Victoria," the report added.

"While recognizing the basic weakness of the existing Vancouver-Victoria steamship service, the advocates of the ferry project do not yet appear willing to accept in full the fundamental nature of the change in traffic pattern required to establish an economic service comparable to that now operating to and from Nanaimo."

The report could see little cause for concern in the question of freight movements to south Vancouver Island via Nanaimo. It pointed out there is "every indication" 80% of the freight traffic originating or terminating south of Duncan is being moved on the regular boat and barge services operating between Vancouver and Victoria. "Only about 20% of the freight is being conveyed by truck and is thus subject to diversion via Nanaimo," the report said.

"The complaint against existing facilities for freight operations between Vancouver and Victoria does not involve the bulk of the fast freight traffic currently moving on other than carload lots."

"From the point of view of fast freight movements, the establishment of a Sidney-Mainland ferry does not warrant further consideration," the report concluded.

Copies of the report have been forwarded to Chamber of Commerce officials by Dr. Fahey, who is still seeking an engineering survey of possible ferry landing sites on the Saanich peninsula.

Accident occurred about 9 a.m.

The youth who had been firing helped Smith walk about two miles to his home. He was then taken to hospital.

$1,000 Damage In Saanich House Fire

Faulty Fireplace
Cause of Blaze

A faulty fireplace was blamed for a fire which caused about $1,000 damage to the home of Ernest J. Tuttle, 915 Dunn Avenue, early Sunday morning.

Saanich firemen were called at 12:24 a.m. when Mrs. Tuttle heard the fire crackling behind a wall.

Firemen found the fire had spread to the attic and roof.

Mr. and Mrs. Tuttle had moved some furnishings out of the house by the time firemen arrived.

They suffered no loss of furniture. Damage was mainly confined to the attic, roof and between walls.

SAANICH FIREMEN were also called to the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory, Little Saanich Mountain, at 9 p.m. Sunday, when a wooden casing over a pipe caught fire while water pipes were being thawed.

Residents near the observatory feared the fire might spread to nearby trees and houses.

However, the fire was quickly extinguished.

Bennett Asks 2 Seats for Peace River

Intense Rivalry Noted
Between North, South

Premier Bennett today recommended to the Legislature's committee on redistribution that the Peace River riding be split to give the area two M.L.A.'s.

The premier's recommendation came in a letter to committee chairman, Provincial Secretary Wesley Black. In accepting it, committee members, in effect, rescinded a motion passed last week calling for the premier to testify as a witness.

The letter read, in part: "I therefore recommend to your committee, that earnest consideration be given to the advisability and desirability of creating out of the present Peace River constituency two ridings, respectively north and south of the Peace."

Opposition members on the redistribution committee last week managed to put through a motion calling the premier as a witness, to determine whether he promised voters in the far north riding another member in the House.

INTENSE RIVALRY
His remarks were made last summer at public meetings at Dawson Creek and Fort St. John. Today Premier Bennett said he took the opportunity, I think on two occasions, while in the Peace River riding, to state that I would recommend to a House committee on redistribution, if and when set up, a division into two ridings of the present Peace River constituency."

Reporters were barred from this morning's committee meeting.

The premier said his recommendation was made "as an M.L.A."

He said the "enormous development" and the "intense rivalry" between the areas north and south of the Peace River prompted his recommendation.

The premier said his recommendation is "not a question of Social Credit getting another seat; the people vote any way they want to."

Thirty Back Beaver Lake Park Plan

Residents in the immediate vicinity of the proposed Beaver Lake-Elk Lake race track Sunday voted strongly against the project.

Spokesman F. P. Jeune, 737 Halliburton Road, said 30 residents attended a special meeting and urged turning the 80-acre city-owned site into a public park for the citizens of Greater Victoria.

Some also said they'd favor paying for construction of a golf course in the area if no agreement can be reached to turn it into a park.

TRY TONIGHT
Meanwhile, horse racing interests tonight will attempt to sway Saanich council to support the establishment of a track.

The meeting will be open to the public.

The Island Turf Company, promoters of the track, will meet the council at 8 p.m. at the Royal Oak Municipal Hall to explain its entire plans for the track.

The meeting was called by Saanich Council last Monday after it received a letter from the company requesting a hearing.

As the controversial matter now stands, the company has received permission from the city to go ahead with the project.

But Saanich can block the project by refusing to grant fire and police protection, or to assist in the planning of roads, drainage and sanitation.

Bridge Players to Carry On In Solarium Drive for Dimes

Solarium Junior League's Shower of Dimes campaign in aid of Queen Alexandra Solarium for crippled children ends today in Victoria, Vancouver and New Westminster.

Locally $12,639.50 has been collected through public contribution to date, with the mainland centres still to be heard from.

Provincial objective of $30,000 may not be reached, however, according to local officials.

As a continuing effort to bolster the drive, telephone bridge tournament under Shower of Dimes auspices will carry on through the week. Deadline for entries and scores to be sent in to the drive office, Box 177, Yarrow Building, is 11 p.m. March 4.

Volunteer donations will be accepted at the office at any time.

Further details regarding the bridge tournament may be obtained from drive headquarters in the Yarrow Building.

Remanded on Charge Of False Pretenses

Harry Williams, Victoria, was remanded to March 3 for sentence in city police court today when he pleaded guilty to a charge of obtaining an auto from Yvo Vesey by false pretenses.

Vesey said he sold the accused a 1937-model car and an agreement was signed for the accused to pay the sale price of $200. He said the accused gave him a false name and address.

No payment was made when the sale took place.

Q.—Were there ever any specimens of reindeer in Victoria? C.G.

A.—There is no record of reindeer ever being in Victoria, but 75 of the northern animals were once within sight of this city. The freighter carrying the unusual visitors passed within sight of Victoria and arrived in the sound city on Oct. 30, 1925.

Q.—1. How many U.S. military bases are there in Canada? 2. Has Canada surrendered her sovereignty by admitting armed foreign troops? W. F. H.

Victim in Shooting

A 17-year-old Saanich youth, Darrell Smith, 4481 Prospect Lake Road, was in St. Joseph's Hospital today recovering from a 22 bullet wound in his right leg received in an accident Sunday morning.

Saanich police said Smith and another 17-year-old youth had been standing on a hill shooting at an ice pond with 22s. They said Smith went down toward the pond while his chum continued to fire. Smith then shouted that he was hit.

Accident occurred about 9 a.m.

The youth who had been firing helped Smith walk about two miles to his home. He was then taken to hospital.

Hospital authorities said Smith was wounded just below the right knee.

Imagine You're in Hawaii
With Pineapple Desserts

By PENNY SAVER

With the cold winds wispig my bangs and making me pull my scarf a little snugger, I like to take consolation in thoughts of sunny, sparkly beaches and dreams of basking in Hawaii's sun. Well, I said dream, didn't I? About the closest I can get to the sunny isles is a sample and relish "sunny" foods... like pineapple. There's a new brand out that is close to sheer ambrosia. I'm told that it's the only brand that uses two types of pineapple in the product—the rich, pulpy Anahola pineapple that has no starchy pieces is a high standard fruit that is favored by this particular company; the juice is from the Chyene pineapple... it's more tart and thirst quenching than the ordinary pineapple juice.

You can buy it in slices for 36 cents, in chunks for 34 cents or crushed for 32 cents a tin. Try a pineapple upside-down cake for dinner tonight... with a touch of whipped cream added, it's a perfect dessert.

If you love peaches the way I do, you'll really appreciate the luscious quality of the canned California beauties I tasted today. Either slices or halves can be bought in 20 ounce tins, for 26 cents. M-m-mm, nothing hits the spot like wonderfully fresh-tasting fruits... and they're so good for us, too.

Interested in sweaters?... I should think so, with the cold days we've had... and expect I have been eyeing some oh-so-soft sweaters, and my resistance was considerably weakened when I felt the smooth and luxurious texture of these snugly ones. They're made of orlon... and come in rich tones of deep pink, blue, navy and white. Pullovers are selling at $4.98, and cardigans, $6.98. To wear with your slacks or skirts, or for a fill-in with your fashionable jumper, these would completely fill the bill. At such prices, it would be worthwhile to mix-or-match a pullover-cardigan sweater set either for yourself, or as an idea for a gift, for your best pal.

I have received a deluge of calls about the floor cleaner.

AS WE LIVE

'Hovering' Unnecessary
In Reasonable Caution

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, PhD

There is a great deal of difference between caution and overprotection. However, the difference may not be apparent if the attitude in both cases is the same.

Hurlock

(Q.) "Your recent column about being careful of an older person during the winter months stirred up quite an argument in our home. My mother, who is in her late 70s, lives with us. When she read your article she triumphantly said to me: 'You see, Dr. Hurlock says people should not be overprotective of old people.'"

"She has been accusing me for some time of being 'overprotective' of her. I maintain I am just trying to be careful. It seems that every time the weather is bad, Mother insists that she just must go to the store or keep an engagement she has with a friend. If I tell her it is foolish, she argues that she is just as well able to go out now as she was when she was 20 years younger. I wish you would write about this matter."

(A.) First, I am sorry that what I said led to an argument. In your home I am sure your mother is merely trying to convince you that she does not need to be coddled, and she should not be, if her health is good.

However, there are many hazards in winter for old people and an ounce of prevention is certainly worth a pound of cure. When the weather is bad, and your mother feels she must have something from the store, you might be able to get it for her and thus save her from going out.

Should she have an engagement with a friend, you might drive her right to the door and insist that she remain at the friend's until you arrive to take her home. Or use a taxi if you do not want to drive or have no car.

Illnesses often become serious in older people. Colds lead to pleurisy or pneumonia, and broken bones heal very slowly. Don't hover over your mother. This is what makes her feel you are overprotective. Merely use common cautions and keep a cheerful attitude that "all will be well."

Volunteer Workers Important in Hospital Projects and Programs

Value and importance of volunteer workers in the operation of hospitals was stressed by Mrs. G. E. Masters, wife of the administrator of Royal Jubilee Hospital, in an address before members of the St. Joseph's Hospital Women's Auxiliary.

Mrs. Masters, long associated with hospital auxiliaries, pointed out that the British Columbia Hospitals' Association, recognized the need and value of auxiliaries long before the powerful American Hospital Association, and encouraged the volunteer women's groups to sit in with them at regional and provincial meetings.

"It was not until 1948 that the American Hospitals' Association came to the conclusion that a woman's auxiliary was a necessary adjunct to any first-class hospital," Mrs. Masters said. "By that time they had found out over 500,000 women were giving voluntary services to hospitals throughout Canada and the United States."

"They were raising enormous sums of money, doing much of the daily work in hospitals and out patient clinics and contributing extra services that would have been economically impossible for the hospitals to give but which contributed immensely to the spiritual and physical well being of the patients."

The speaker pointed out that

The Victorian Order of Nurses has been providing home nursing care to Canadian families for over a half-century.

Shirley Behnsen Petite Bride of Gordon Pynn

Miss Shirley May Behnsen made a lovely picture as she entered Douglas Street Baptist Church, Saturday evening, to become the bride of Gordon John Pynn. Rev. J. N. Clark officiated.

George Bradstock, a friend of the family gave the petite bride in marriage. She chose a charming gown with a ballerina length bouffant net skirt with delicate lace inserts, and wore a bolero jacket with a pearl-trimmed Peter Pan collar and sleeves tapering intoilly points. Her shoulder length veil was held by a cap of net and seed pearls. A cascade bouquet of red roses and stephanotis completed her ensemble.

Bridesmaid, Miss Maxine Fraser, wore a ballerina length gown of lilac with full, flowing skirt and tiny bolero over a fitted bodice. She complemented her dress with a cascade bouquet of yellow roses.

Best man was Mr. Garfy Pynn. A reception followed at the Strathcona Hotel, where a two-tier square cake decorated with pink roses centred the bridal table. Spring flowers decorated the room where the bridal couple, assisted by Mrs. W. Brownling, sister of the groom, in a mauve silk parchment gown with black accessories and white carnation corsage, received guests. Buffet refreshments were enjoyed.

Rev. J. N. Clark, who officiated at the wedding ceremony, proposed the toast. Traveling on honeymoon, the bride wore a black and white tweed casual suit with a complementary hat and accessories and a white spring corsage. Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Pynn will live at 750 Queens Avenue.

Cowichan Bay and Deep Cove Are Represented in Saturday Wedding

Two well-known Vancouver Island families were united through marriage last Saturday afternoon when Hester Sylvia Stewart exchanged vows with Reginald Weldon Stacey in a double-ring ceremony in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. Rev. G. E. Foreman officiated.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Kennedy Stewart of Cowichan Bay and the groom a son of Mrs. Alfred Reginald Stacey, Deep Cove, B.C., and the late Mr. Stacey.

Vases of spring flowers decorated the church for the ceremony and during signing of the register "I'll Walk Beside You" was played by the organist, C. C. Warren.

Lustrous brocade satin in egg-shell tone fashioned the bride's gown. Styled on Princess lines, it featured a full ballerina-length skirt and bolero jacket with three-quarter-length sleeves over a fitted bodice with neckline outlined in seed pearls. A mauve hat and gloves and egg-shell toned linen shoes completed the ensemble. The cascade bouquet was of pink Rapture roses and white and mauve freesias.

Mrs. Lumsden, municipal organizing secretary, gave a talk on the aims and objects of the Order. Mrs. Corby and Mrs. Freethy spoke on the history of the chapter.

Mrs. Corby was named honorary regent; Mrs. H. N. Parrott, honorary first vice-regent, and Miss Bertha Morley (first regent of the chapter), honorary second vice-regent.

Refreshments were served from an attractively appointed table, carried out in a patriotic theme and centred with a large cake bearing the emblem of the Order, artistically decorated by the regent.

Altrusa Club

At a recent meeting of Altrusa Club of Victoria, a candlelight initiation ceremony was held for the following new members: Mrs. Irene Carroll, Mrs. Marie Cooper, Mrs. Eva Gannon and Miss Sylvia Sutton. The ceremony closed with presentation of white carnation corsages, tied with the club colors of blue and white.

Other members present were Miss Jess Robinson, president; Mrs. E. Chant, Mrs. Maud Gordon, Miss Mona Jewell, Mrs. Suzanne Lumby, Mrs. Nesta Morris, Mrs. Ursula Slack, Miss Marjorie Siddall, Mrs. Joan Williams and one guest prospective member, Mrs. R. Broomfield.

A social hour followed, with coffee and refreshments.

Hunt-Hansen Wedding Vows Taken in Centennial Church

Rev. Douglas Carr officiated at the marriage on Saturday evening in Centennial United Church of Miss Ketty Emilie Hansen and Raymond Charles Hunt.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Hansen, 436 Springfield Street, and the groom a son of Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Hunt, of Victoria, B.C.

Organ music was played throughout the ceremony and a solo was given by Mrs. Alfred Hunt. Mr. Hansen gave his daughter in marriage.

A white ballerina-length gown with full skirt and fitted bodice was the choice of the bride for her wedding gown. Her finger-tip veil was held with a crown of net touched with sprays of lily of the valley. White satin slippers completed her ensemble and she carried a colonial bouquet of spring flowers.

A sister, Miss Mary-Jane Hansen, was the only attendant. She wore a pale yellow ballerina-length gown with matching yellow head bandeau and floral corsage.

Harry D. Hansen, brother of the bride, was best man and the ushers, Ron Pierce and Robert Hunt, brother of the groom.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at 802 Esquimalt Road, where Mrs. Hansen, wearing a navy blue gown, with navy accessories and pink floral corsage, and Mrs. Hunt in a red tissue taffeta gown with matching accessories and corsage, assisted in receiving guests. Ronald Shillitto, Sidney, B.C., proposed the toast to the bride.

1955 Design Awards Offered

Is the handle on that saucepan comfortable? Heat resistant? In proper proportion to the rest of the pan? Will that chair be comfortable, easy to care for, has it pleasing, simple lines?

These are examples of questions that members of the judging panel must consider before granting design awards for 1955.

This year the National Industrial Design Council, an extension of the National Gallery of Canada, is again granting awards to encourage better design in Canadian manufactured products. One hundred and fifty manufacturers are taking advantage of this opportunity and have entered about 500 articles for competition.

Women all over Canada, members of the Canadian Association of Consumers, feel that homemakers should be interested in the design as well as the durability of household articles and the design committee of this organization is active throughout the year. Mrs. John Butterfield, consumer research department, CAC, has been appointed by NIDC to the judging panel to represent the consumers' viewpoint. Here she will work with experts in the fields of design and manufacturing processes to choose articles that will stand as 1955's example of "good design."

Nearly one million visits are made to Canadian homes each year by members of the Victorian Order of Nurses.

Dieting Reduces Weight; Exercise Molds Figure

I am dipping into the mail bag this week. It is a temptation to do this too often because the mail I receive from readers is so fascinating and highlights practically every human problem.

After writing for 18 years I often think, "Now I have been asked everything," and then along comes a brand new question. I suppose this can go on forever.

The letter from which I am quoting today is not unusual in the problem it poses but is rather so universal in the experience of women that it will be helpful to many of you.

"I am not one of those women who need to lose weight. I am even a bit on the slim side but I need badly to redistribute the weight. I have I am way out of proportion. All of my weight seems to land on my legs and hips and around my waist. Will you please discuss this in one of your columns?"

I have often said in this column that we cannot lose weight by exercise alone, that we have to diet for that, but that, we can distribute our weight more attractively with exercise, whether we do or do not need calorie counting.

We can recognize the pattern of our weight distribution by the late teens or certainly in early womanhood. This is inherited in that our glandular and general physical makeup is inherited. You have often noticed that in certain families all the women tend to have large hips or a short waistline, or thick ankles, or big fatty deposits over the abdomen. You can see this pattern even in women who are the correct weight.

So, one must recognize these inherited tendencies and use the type exercise indicated. Even in the case of overweight, when dieting is essential, exercise will help make the figure more symmetrical.

As in the case of the reader from whose letter I quote, over and over again, I have seen very slim women who had lovely figures except for out-of-proportion hips, or abdomen or legs. I have seen them bring the offending measurement into line through exercise alone.

This is especially important at middle age when women find weight landing on them in new and annoying ways. Many slim women suddenly find that they have a roll over the girdle. This will not be as large as the one the overweight woman has, but it is there just the same. This can be managed through selected exercise.

If you would like to have my reducing exercises for the hips, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 3 "Hip Exercises," to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

In the case of overweight, when dieting is essential, exercise will help make the figure more symmetrical.

TODAY'S RECIPE

There's no time like the present to try out some new fish recipes. During the Lenten season many families take advantage of extra opportunities to include Canada's many varieties of fish in their daily meals. Here's a new idea we know you'll enjoy:

GRAPEFRUIT 'N BREAD STUFFED FILLETS

One-quarter cup melted butter or margarine, 1/4 cup chopped onion, 1/2 cup chopped celery, 4 cups toasted 1/2-inch enriched bread cubes, 1 cup diced fresh grapefruit sections, 1 tablespoon minced parsley, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon poultry seasoning, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 1/2 cup grapefruit juice, 6 fish fillets (cod, haddock or other Canadian fish in season—about 2 pounds).

Melt butter or margarine. Add onion and celery and saute until tender. Pour over toasted enriched bread cubes and seasonings. Add grapefruit juice and mix lightly, but well. Cut each fillet in half, lengthwise.

Line 12 large, well-greased muffin tins with fish fillet pieces, placing skin side toward centre of pan. (Fillet may be skinned, if preferred.) Place 1/2 cup Grapefruit 'n Bread Stuffing in centre of each fillet. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 40 minutes.

Yield: 12 Grapefruit 'n Bread Stuffed Fillets or 6 servings.

When is a sheath not a sheath? When it's draped at the side. Done in silk surah, it draws easily across the front, hangs in a flower of fullness at the side.

Socred Money Policy Criticized in N.Z.

WELLINGTON, N.Z. (CP)—Social Credit is news in New Zealand since the Social Credit political league won 11 per cent of the vote in last November's election.

Taking the vote as an expression of doubt among many citizens about the present economic system, the government is appointing a commission to make a full inquiry into all aspects of banking and finance and to report if there is room for reforms.

Meanwhile, the permanent head of the treasury, B. C. Ashwin, has come out with a severe attack on the money policy advocated by Social Credit as a remedy for economic ills.

ATTACKS CREDIT PLAN

Ashwin delivered his main attack on a claim by Social Credit supporters that there is a "gap" in purchasing power of £190,000,000 a year in New Zealand and that it can be reduced by issuing credit to pay off loans, create public works, establish a retail discount and pay a national dividend.

Their plan, he declared, would produce economic chaos. "If one wanted to wreck an economy, it is doubtful if a more effective way of doing it could be found."

Winnie Warns BBC Must Not Dim Commons

LONDON (AP)—The BBC has had a clear warning from Prime Minister Churchill to keep its place and avoid overshadowing parliament.

Churchill says he never will permit the government-controlled BBC to drain away any of parliament's dignity and prestige by serving as a rival forum for topical debates.

The Conservative party and the Labour party have entered into a gentlemen's agreement with the BBC under which it promises not to broadcast or televise debates on any subjects due to come up in parliament within two weeks.

Newspapers and some members of both parties have objected. They claim the gentlemen's agreement is strangling the BBC.

The 80-year-old prime minister disagrees. He told the house:

"As far as I am concerned I will never reconsider the ban."

U.S. GENERAL RETIRES

WASHINGTON (AP)—The army today announced the retirement on April 30 of Gen. John E. Hull, 60, United States and United Nations commander-in-chief in the Far East. His successor was not named immediately.

Suspended Officers Of Carpenters' Union Face Trial in March

VANCOUVER (CP)—Union trial of suspended executive officers of Carpenters and Joiners local 452 (AFL-TLC) will be held sometime in March, according to union officials.

The men were suspended for alleged leftist activities a month ago.

Meanwhile, hearing of the injunction, preventing officers under suspension from occupying union headquarters, continues in Vancouver Supreme Court today. It started last week.

The officials were ousted from local 452 quarters on West Broadway by a court order, following a stormy session after the men had refused to vacate.

Hospital Society Protests $1 Daily Fee After 10 Days

PORT ALBERNI (CP) — A resolution urging abolition of the dollar-a-day hospital co-insurance after 10 days' stay in hospital was passed overwhelmingly at the annual meeting of West Coast General Hospital Society.

The resolution, proposed by T. H. Turner, joint labor council representative, will go to the provincial cabinet. Mr. Turner declared that continuation of the levy on patients after 10 days' stay in hospital is a hardship on many.

John Hammargren and R. Bartlett were returned and Frank Luckhurst was elected as director of the hospital. The three were unopposed at the meeting, which saw a record attendance of 142 delegates.

Administrator Harvey E. Taylor, in his annual report, said a total of 3,644 adults and children were admitted to the hospital in 1954. This was an increase of 4.6 per cent over the previous year.

Mr. Taylor said patient days last year totaled 28,142, compared with 25,860 in 1953. Births decreased 527 to 498.

Over-all increase in average stay was only 23 days for adults and 1.08 for the newborn, although the increase amounted to an additional $12,329 in operating costs, Mr. Taylor said.

Mrs. W. Bryant WA Delegate to Diocese Meeting

LADYSMITH—Mrs. W. Bryant was appointed delegate to the annual diocesan meeting to be held in Victoria March 8, 9 and 10 when members of the Afternoon Branch of the St. John's W.A. met at the home of Mrs. M. Lovrod.

Mrs. R. Nimmo and Mrs. F. Gladish were welcomed as new members. The members voted to supply the funds to finish off the kitchen in the new hall.

Mrs. C. Kerly reported on the home-cooking sale, held jointly with the Evening Branch, stating that it was a financial success.

It was announced that the annual deanery meeting will be held in St. John's Anglican Church, Duncan, March 1.

CHEMAINUS — The 1954 operating expenses of the Chemainus General Hospital were up $2,000 over the previous year, administrator G. C. Saunders told a well-attended annual meeting.

The hospital ended the year with a small net operating loss of $1,096.09.

In his annual report, Mr. Saunders gave $104,206.58 as the total operating revenue. Cost of operating the hospital in 1954 was $107,743.41. Of this amount, $66,505.56 went for salaries and wages. Operating revenue was made up chiefly of earnings from patients, and amounted to $97,043.98.

Hospital days were down considerably over the previous year, 7,019 as against 7,484 in 1953. Average stay was 8.3 days, while average bed occupancy was 58 per cent. Cost per patient day rose from $12.67 in 1953 to $13.65 last year.

Hospital board chairman W. Wyllie told the annual meeting that while hospital days were down five per cent, "our cash position remains almost equal to last year's, because grants and donations amounted to as much as the operating deficit."

Many improvements to the hospital had been made during the year. Plumbing had been renewed in several sections and two sterilizers had been purchased at the cost of almost $1,000. Mr. Wyllie commended the hospital W.A. for its very valuable assistance, and said that members had contributed $666 toward the cost of the sterilizers.

Elected to the board of directors of the hospital for two-year terms were Mrs. R. Clegg, F. Elliott, B. Page and C. Cates. G. Beaubier, A. Aiken, Dr. R. N. Dick and W. Wyllie still have one-year terms to serve.

The court fined Frank Wilson $25 on a similar charge. He also paid costs of $5.50.

Barry Stubbs, Sidney, was fined $10 and costs after pleading guilty to failing to stop at a stop sign.

A juvenile was fined $10 and costs on a charge of drinking in a cafe.

Logging Camp Saved By Bucket Brigade

Four Buildings at Leechtown Destroyed
In Second Major Fire Within Two Years

LEECHTOWN — Fire of undetermined origin on Sunday levelled four buildings in this logging community while a bucket brigade of residents saved the remaining.

The fire broke out at 12.30 p.m. and the settlement's fire pumps never did get into operation. W. Dingee, operator of the pumps and one of those who lost his home and belongings in the fire, was absent at the time.

Men and women manned the bucket line from the Leech River while help was sought from the B.C. Forest Service and Shawnigan Lake volunteer fire department.

VOLUNTEERS' HELP
Although the Shawnigan volunteers could not take their equipment from their own area, several of them joined Fire Chief E. G. Gibson in making the 14-mile drive to help the hard-pressed residents.

Working in bitterly cold weather and a high wind, the bucket brigade was given credit for saving the whole of the community. It is the logging operations centre of Sooke Lake Lumber Company.

The fire was the second within two years to strike this small community. A sawmill, stacked lumber and equipment worth $200,000, plus 15 CNR flatcars, were destroyed in an early morning fire July 23, 1953.

Receipts were turned over to the Parksville Kinsmen Club, which has reported total to date of nearly $1,200. Rotary Club members have provided transportation for canvassers.

SURPRISE SOVIET SHUFFLE BOOSTS MIKOYAN UP

LONDON (UP) — Moscow radio tonight announced a new government shuffle in the Soviet Union in which Anastas Mikoyan, ousted as minister of trade a month ago, was made first deputy premier.

Two deputy premiers, M. Z. Saburov and M. G. Pervukhin, also were promoted with Mikoyan to the rank of first deputy premiers.

The promotions placed them along with two existing first deputies—V. M. Molotov and L. M. Kaganovich—in a broadened top-level presidium.

Counting Premier Nikolai Bulganin as a part of it, this new presidium becomes a six-man group, replacing the narrow governing team of Bulganin, Molotov and Kaganovich.

DUESSELDORF, Germany (CP)—Canada walloped Finland 12-0 tonight in the fourth round of the world hockey championships. It was the fourth win without a loss for the Penticton V's and the third consecutive setback for the Finns.

DUESSELDORF (AP)—The coach and manager of Penticton V's, Canadian entry in the world hockey championships, expressed belief today that "political reasons" are behind the booing and whistling the team has received from German fans.

V's IDLE TOMORROW

Penticton V's, Canada's representative in the world hockey championships, will enjoy a day off Tuesday.

Wednesday the V's play Switzerland; Thursday they meet Sweden with Germany as their opponents Friday. On Saturday they enjoy another bye with the all-important game against Russia scheduled next Sunday.

Mainland Thugs Raid Offices Of 9 Doctors

VANCOUVER (CP)—Thieves ransacked the offices of nine doctors here during the week-end, apparently in search of narcotics, as the crackdown on drug pushers and addicts continued.

Two suspected drug addicts were arrested and 17 others checked by city police during the week-end in Vancouver.

Police said a man and woman were arrested in an east end hotel and were being held pending a laboratory analysis of articles found in their possession. The seized articles, which include a hypodermic needle, are being checked for possible traces of narcotics.

The week-end police activity brought to about 200 the number of known and suspected addicts and traffickers checked by police in the harassment drive started seven days ago. Many have been checked as many as three times in a single day.

Reds Ready To Talk PWs ... Unofficially

RANGOON, Burma (UP)—Premier U Nu of Burma said today he transmitted to U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles an invitation from Red China for a visit by an "unofficial" American representative to Peiping.

The premier did not elaborate, but it was assumed the purpose of the proposed visit would be an informal discussion between Red China and the United States of America on demands for release of 11 American airmen imprisoned by the Communists on espionage charges, and other sources of Sino-American tension.

Snow Flurries Due Tonight But Main Storm Misses City

Mainland Gets Five-Inch Fall

Victoria will escape the worst of a smashing onslaught of winter weather that already has left five inches of snow on the mainland, and has the rest of British Columbia shivering.

Weatherman William Mackie expects showers of snow mixed with rain late this afternoon, and flurries of snow tonight, but temperatures will remain between 32 and 38 degrees.

Chilly Arctic air that lay over the city on the week-end was pushed back to the mainland by a mild storm from the Pacific that left snow, rain and high winds in its wake.

The cold air is still a threat, Mr. Mackie said, but he expects the milder air to keep it bottled up in Queen Charlotte Sound.

Saturday and Sunday were extremely cold, and the thermometer reached a record low on both days. Saturday was the coldest Feb. 26 in history with a low of 26.9 degrees, and Sunday the coldest Feb. 27 with a minimum of 22.7 degrees.

Previous records were: 27.2 degrees, Feb. 26, 1917, and 28.5 degrees, Feb. 27, 1912.

High winds accompanied the passage of the storm over the city. They reached a peak of 57 miles per hour at 3:10 a.m. today.

Duncan, Nanaimo and Courtenay all reported from two to three inches of snow Sunday evening and early today. Roads are clear, however, and buses and aircraft are traveling on schedule.

Public works crews were out in force today and will continue at work on highways tonight. Officials said six inches of snow fell overnight on the Malahat and warned that motorists will find chains necessary to make the trip.

Snow, Slush Snarl Traffic in Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—Rivers of slush raced down Greater Vancouver streets and roadways today after a five-inch snowfall.

Traffic was snarled, thousands of workers were late for work, many schools were closed and power failures were general in suburban districts.

Rising temperatures started the heavy, wet snow melting as hundreds of workmen manned shovels and plows.

A high of 36 was forecast for today with an overnight low of 30 in Vancouver.

The snow was widespread, hitting both coastal and interior sections.

Winds that reached hurricane force in gusts pounded the Oregon-Washington coast, disrupting communications and causing widespread damage.

The storm originated in the Alaska Panhandle on Saturday and swept down the Queen Charlotte Islands, sending ships scurrying for shelter.

Occasional showers of mixed rain and snow were forecast for the B.C. coast.

ADDICT'S OWN STORY

Street Peddler Main Contact

The drug traffic on the B.C. coast has become notorious. Its main centre is Vancouver. Victoria fortunately is to a large extent free of the more evil implications of it. But there are a few addicts here and a few face similar problems to those on the mainland. This year the B.C. government proposes an experimental program to deal with the addiction problem. A Victoria addict who has been in and out of trouble with the law for years has told his personal story to the Times. Following is the last of a series.

AS TOLD TO TONY DICKASON

Addicts who steal are the professional athletes compared to ordinary thieves who by comparison are bungling amateurs.

You can't make a mistake when you support a habit like dope. It is just an absolute necessity.

Strong-arm men look down on addicts as non-reliable, but addicts in their own way steal more than all the thugs and safe crackers in Canada lumped together.

Much of the stealing is done in stores by "boosters." They simply lift merchandise, and usually most ingeniously and sell it to a fence for much less than value. "Healers" roam hotel corridors testing room doors. We call this a "hot prowl."

Your purse or wallet are never safe. These thieves, goaded by the need for narcotics money, move so quietly they can take funds out from under your pillow, and not disturb a hair of your head!

This is all routine stuff, common to addicts.

I surmise, and this is a surmise, that there are at least five steps with drugs from the time they are imported down to the user or "type" himself. Main contact is the street peddler. They won't sell drugs to kids as the youngsters aren't known to the pusher. No chances are taken.

GET CURIOUS

Most youngsters get started through curiosity, like myself. There is a general aversion among addicts to giving that first fix, but some kids lie and say they have "scored" before—and are hooked that way.

There are drugs being used in Oakalla today, because wherever there are users, there are the drugs. With money, the habit can be sustained anywhere. In 1947 when I was in Oakalla the last time I had the odd fix, about a quarter-grain of morphine when I needed it, I'd have had more, but wasn't in a financial position to do so.

There are people who use drugs—doctors, nurses or pharmacists generally—who don't have to come to crime to support their habit.

port the disease. The RCMP draws a sharp line between these and the criminal addict.

In other words, one who takes drugs and is in the money is home free. For instance, I've never heard of a door being kicked in at the Uplands by the RCMP searching for an addict.

Well, these are my views on the narcotics problem. I haven't tried to be dramatic, or overstate the situation, but to tell it as I see it. If the public realizes the impasse in which a confirmed addict finds himself, and who definitely desires a return to as normal a life as possible, perhaps something will be done in setting up clinics.

It's up to you.

Canada Wins Seaway Canal Argument

OTTAWA (BUP)—Canada has won its campaign to keep part of the international section of the St. Lawrence Seaway on Canadian soil, diplomatic letters tabled in the House of Commons revealed today.

They included a commitment by the United States administration to seek a revision of the Wiley Act to allow it to drop plans for a canal on the U.S. side of the International Rapids near Iroquois, Ont. Canada has already begun work on a $15,000,000 canal on the Canadian side at that point.

The letters tabled by External Affairs Minister Pearson said both countries had agreed to avoid duplication in the navigation facilities of the seaway.

TWO YEARS FOR SPREE ON MAGGIE

HALIFAX (CP)—A navy court martial today sentenced AB John MacDonald of Beaverton, Ont. to two years, less a day, and dismissal from the service for his part in a drinking spree aboard the aircraft carrier Magnificent.

MacDonald was acquitted of stealing duplicating machine fluid (which contained deadly methyl alcohol) last Jan. 21 but was found guilty on three other charges—unlawful possession of stolen fluid, furnishing "spiked" drinks to another sailor, and drinking intoxicants contrary to navy regulations.

West Germany Ratifies Arms Pact

Adenauer Faces Split in Cabinet

PARIS, (UP)—Premier Edgar Faure today assured the United States and Britain that his new government will complete the ratification of the German rearmament plan speedily. He called his cabinet together to fix a timetable for the action.

(From UP, AP Dispatches)

BONN, Germany—Vice-Chancellor Franz Bluecher offered his resignation to Chancellor Konrad Adenauer today in an open cabinet split over passage Sunday night of the Paris arms treaties, a spokesman for Bluecher announced.

The West German lower house (Bundestag) passed the arms treaties by resounding margins and thus put the future of Germany's promised new 12-division army squarely in the hands of the temperamental national assembly of France.

But a related Franco-German agreement to put the coal-rich Saar under international control divided the nation and precipitated an open rebellion in Adenauer's four-party coalition.

In a resolution liable to imperil French ratification of German rearmament, Adenauer's own party and two others in his coalition declared the Saar's "attachment to Germany is not affected" by this Saar pact.

The resolution, adopted by a show of hands, declared: "The Saar agreement does not affect the attachment of the Saar to Germany under the 1937 frontiers, full political freedom will be restored in the Saar before and after the plebiscite on the new Saar statute, and the European commissioner for the Saar will undertake to guarantee this freedom." A Socialist resolution calling for immediate withdrawal of French troops and police from the Saar was rejected in a second show of hands.

One German newspaper and many fans and observers speculated after the Czech-Russian game that the Czechs might have "eased off a bit," thus helping the Russians to victory.

Zabrodsky said: "You can be sure of one thing—the Russians and we are no friends when it comes to ice hockey. We played the best we could Sunday night but just could not break through the Russian defense."

Possible evidence of this was the fact that a Russian and a Czech engaged in a skate-kick duel during the game.

Famed 'Teddy' Dies

VANCOUVER (CP)—Thaddeus S. (Teddy) Lyons, wise-cracking tourmaster of the Vancouver transit system's observation cars for 42 years, died at his home here Sunday. He was 68.

Armed with an impish grin and a megaphone, Mr. Lyons and his jokes made four appearances a day every summer from 1910 until his retirement in 1951.

Floods Ruin 30 Towns Kill 70 in Australia

SYDNEY (UP)—The worst flood in Australian history slowly began receding today, leaving more than 70 persons dead and many more missing.

At least 30 towns and scores of villages were partly wrecked by swollen rivers fed by heavy rains in the state of New South Wales in southeast Australia.

Nurses at the Maitland Hospital said that when the floods struck the town they saw the roaring current pick up 20 houses and smash them like toys against a bridge.

"One house had seven people on the roof as it passed the bridge. They all jumped," one nurse said.

"Afterwards only three were clinging to the bridge. We learned later that the others, including a woman expecting a baby in 48 hours, floated five miles on a mattress to safety," the nurse said.

EPIDEMICS THREATEN

With the receding waters in many areas came the threat of serious epidemics.

Outbreaks of dysentery and colic already were sweeping the crowded refugee centres of the Hunter-River valley, where the receding waters uncovered thousands of rotting animal carcasses on streets and mud-caked farms.

Sewage, electricity and gas services and water supplies were broken down.

Rescue workers began evacuating 6,000 persons from Maitland.

Magistrate Refuses Marcoux Bail

VANCOUVER (CP)—Joseph Marcoux, 29, semi-pro hockey player, was remanded today to March 8 on a charge of attempted murder in connection with last year's shooting of William Semnick.

No plea was entered. Magistrate Oscar Orr refused a request for bail on the ground Marcoux had jumped $500 bail on a minor traffic charge three months ago.

Marcoux was arrested in Toronto last week. Semnick was wounded Nov. 4 by two assailants in Stanley Park and was later sentenced to three months for refusing to name his attackers.

A charge of trafficking in drugs is pending against Semnick.

H-Bomb Kill Million?

ARNPRIOR, Ont. (CP)—A million dead in Toronto or Montreal from a hydrogen bomb was the grim possibility held out to a civil defense group today by J. F. Wallace, chief instructor at Canada's civil defense college here.

Cameramen Slugged As Princess Watches

NASSAU, The Bahamas (AP)—Two foreign photographers were clubbed and manhandled by Bahama police in the full view of Princess Margaret Saturday when they jumped ashore from the press yacht and tried to take a picture of her landing at a Nassau pier.

David Johnson of the London Daily Sketch and Jean Pierre Pedrazzini of a Paris magazine both suffered injuries in the scuffle which lasted about 10 minutes.

Two members of the royal party, Capt. Dawney and Sir Norman Gwatkin, stepped in and ended the scrap, telling police to release the two photographers and let them take pictures of the princess.

Colonial Secretary A. G. H. Garner-Brown, who said the princess was "horrified" at the incident, apologized to both men and offered to pay for a new suit for Pedrazzini, whose trousers were ripped down the right leg.

The Bahamas government said Sunday the scuffle has been investigated and "suitable directions" have been given to ensure co-operation between police and press.

'Cold? W-w-ell J-just a Little'

"Shucks, what's a little high wind, freezing rain and snow, and rock-bottom temperatures," said Sheila Morgan, atop the HBC observation tower today. "Hold my cape, Gertrude (Mrs. Gertrude Sparrow), while I prove my loyalty to Victoria. But leave me the fur!" (Photo by Bill Halkett.)

ADDICT'S OWN STORY

Theft Just Routine

(The drug traffic on the B.C. coast has become notorious. Its main centre is Vancouver. Victoria fortunately is in a large extent free of face similar problems to those on the mainland. This year the B.C. government proposes an experimental program to deal with the addiction problem. Just what can this do for an addict? To show the public something of the problem, a Victoria addict who has been in and out of trouble with the law for years has told his personal story to the Times. Following is the last of a series.)

AS TOLD TO TONY DICKASON

Addicts who steal are the professional athletes compared to ordinary thieves who by comparison are bungling amateurs.

You can't make a mistake when you support a habit like dope. It is just an absolute necessity.

Strong-arm men look down on addicts as non-reliable, but addicts in their own way steal more than all the thugs and safe crackers in Canada lumped together.

Much of the stealing is done in stores by "boosters." They simply lift merchandise, and usually most ingeniously and

Canadian Team Gets Fourth Straight Win

Canada 12, Finland 0
United States 7, Switzerland 3
Russia 8, Poland 1

DUESSELDORF, Germany (CP)—Canada walloped Finland 12-0 tonight in the fourth round of the world hockey championships. It was the fourth win without a loss for the Penticton V's and the third consecutive setback for the Finns.

Forward Mike Shabaga scored three goals and the veteran Jim Fairburn got another pair to lead the Canadian attack. But the real hero of the game was the Finnish goalie, Vitala Unto, who stopped 53 shots.

As the game ended the entire Canadian team skated over to shake hands with him. The match was so one-sided that in the second period alone Unto had to make 22 stops while Canada's Ivan McLelland had a bare two saves.

Fairburn, George McAvoy and Bill Warwick each drew two penalties in the opening period, but the game was comparatively tame after that, without a penalty for either team in the last two periods.

Hal Tarala, McAvoy, Doug Kilburn, Bernie Bathgate, Bill Warwick and Don Berry each scored one goal for the V's.

Canada blasted the game wide open almost from the start as Tarala, McAvoy, Kilburn and Dick Warwick scored goals within the first eight minutes of play. After that it was a romp. The Canadians skated at half-speed in the final two periods.

Meanwhile, Vladimir Zabrodsky, captain of the Czech team, laughed off rumors that his team "made victory easy" for defending champion Russia Sunday night.

One German newspaper and many fans and observers speculated after the Czech-Russian game that the Czechs might have "eased off a bit," thus helping the Russians to victory.

Zabrodsky said: "You can be sure of one thing—the Russians and we are not friends when it comes to ice hockey. We played the best we could Sunday night but just could not break through the Russian defense."

Possible evidence of this was the fact that a Russian and a Czech engaged in a skate-kicking duel during the game.

Marcoux Bail Refused

VANCOUVER (CP)—Joseph Marcoux, 29, semi-pro hockey player, was remanded today to March 8 on a charge of attempted murder in connection with last year's shooting of William Semnick. (Marcoux formerly played for Victoria V's of the Commercial Hockey League.)

No plea was entered. Magistrate Oscar Orr refused a request for bail on the ground Marcoux had jumped $500 bail on a minor traffic charge three months ago.

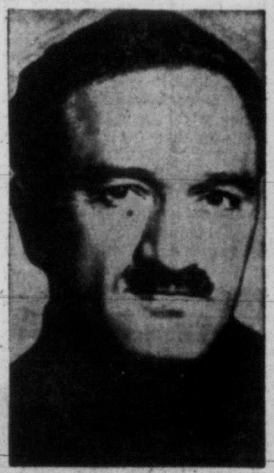

SURPRISE SOVIET SHUFFLE BOOSTS MIKOYAN UP

LONDON (UP)—Moscow radio tonight announced a new government shuffle in the Soviet Union in which Anastas Mikoyan, ousted as minister of trade a month ago, was made first deputy premier.

Two deputy premiers, M. Z. Saburov and M. G. Pervukhin, also were promoted with Mikoyan to the rank of first deputy premier.

The promotions placed them along with two existing first deputies—V. M. Molotov and L. M. Kaganovich—in a broadened top-level presidium.

Counting Premier Nikolai Bulganin as a part of it, this new presidium becomes a six-man group, replacing the narrow governing team of Bulganin, Molotov and Kaganovich.
